STAMP OF RIGHT PUT BY KANSAS ON INSURGENTS

Result of G. O. P. Primary in Sunflower State Almost Rout for Stand-patters.

FRIENDS OF CANNONISM REPUDIATED BY VOTERS

Even in the District Where "Uncle Joe" Spoke, the Insurgents Have Triumphed--Gov. Stubbs Linked His Fortunes With the Insurgents and Is Indorsed for Second Term.

Topeka, Kan., August 2.—At midnight tonight indications pointed to a decided insurgent gain in Kansas. The nomination of Governor W. R. Stubbs, who linked his fortunes with those of the insurgent candidates for congress, is practically assured. Running close to him is R. J. Hopkins, insurgent candidate for lieutenant governor.

The outcome in the first district congressional fight is still in doubt, with the friends of D. R. Anthony (stand-patter) incumbent, and of T. A. McNeal (insurgent), claiming a victory.

Insurgent in Lead.

Practically no returns have come in from the second district, though meager reports place A. C. Mitchell (insurgent) in the lead.

In the third district P. P. Campbell, incumbent, is running ahead of Arthur Cranston (insurgent), and the indications are that he will be nominated.

In the fourth district the insurgents have scored a decided victory by electing Fred Jackson and defeating J. M. Miller, a stand-patter.

In the fifth district claims are made on meager returns that R. R. Reese (insurgent) has defeated W. A. Calderhead (stand-patter), incumbent. The outcome in this district is still in doubt.

In the sixth the result is in doubt.

No Opposition to Murdock and Madison.

In the seventh district E. H. Madison is nominated without opposition, and in the eighth Victor Murdock is

ROOSEVELT HOBNOBS WITH WEARY WORKERS IN THE MINES AND MILLS

Former President Is Probing the Industrial Conditions in Pennsylvania.

ROOSEVELT MET TOILERS ON TERMS OF INTIMACY

He Called Them "Comrades" and They Called Him "Squire"---The Ex-President Was Covered With Grime of the Mines---Girls in Silk Mill Greatly Interested Roosevelt.

Scranton, Pa., August 2.—Theodore Roosevelt spent today among the workers in the heart of the Pennsylvania anthracite region.

He met and talked with the men who dig the coal as they came from the mines black with grime. He talked with them about their homes, their children and their manner of living. He talked with their wives and their children, and learned from their own lips how they look at life. He climbed to the top of a coal beaker and spent half an hour there, in the stifling coal dust, so that he might see what the men who work there have to do.

With the Girl Workers.

He spent another half hour in a silk mill talking with the girl workers. He visited the people in their homes and saw how they lived. He plodded 2 miles through the dust, up hills and in all manner of places, and he returned to Scranton as evening was drawing near, black with grime, but smiling with delight at his experiences.

The best part of it all, he said repeatedly, was that he was able to meet the people as a private citizen and talk with them as man to man.

Many of the toilers had no idea of the former president's identity, which he took care to conceal when possible, until after he had finished his talk.

Treated Roosevelt as Plain Man.

Others who knew who he was treated him, he said, not as a former president, but as a plain man who had come to see them, to talk and learn their condition.

The colonel's new experiences began last night when he was on his way by automobile from New York to Delaware Water Gap. The automobilists

STRIKE SETTLED ON GRAND TRUNK

Men Return at Advance of 18 Per Cent.

The Advance Will Date From May 1, and Road Promises to Increase It in Few Months to 30 Per Cent---Strike Leaders Are Satisfied.

Ottawa, Ontario, August 2.—The strike of conductors, trainmen and yardmen, which began on the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont systems on July 18, was officially called off tonight.

Under the terms of the agreement signed by President Hays for the railroads and all the union officials, the men will receive, dating back to May 1, of this year, an advance of approximately 18 per cent, and beginning January 1, 1912, a rate of wages slightly below the eastern association schedule, for which they struck, but an advance in many instances of over 30 per cent.

Much credit for the successful outcome of the peace negotiations is given to W. T. Mackenzie King, the minister of labor, who has persisted in his efforts to bring the men together despite discouraging setbacks.

In the case of the Central Vermont, the same settlement applies.

President Garretson, of the conductors, and President Lee, of the trainmen, say they are satisfied with the terms of the settlement. They left tonight for St. Louis.

DEAF-MUTE IS GIVEN HEAVY SENTENCE

Had Obstructed the Railroad Track Near Skipperton.

Macon, Ga., August 2.—(Special.)—Wesley Payne, a mute, assumed the responsibility of obstructing a railway track near Skipperton, on the Macon and Birmingham Railroad, several months ago and was given five years of service on the state prison farm this morning by Judge Felton in the superior court. Gordon Monroe, an associate who was arraigned with Payne, denied guilt and was freed in the confession of Payne. The men were arraigned for trial this morning and this disposition of the case took both from the records.

PRAISE IN SPOTS TO BE GIVEN TAFT BY INSURGENTS

Though Iowa Stand-patters Will Fight Vigorously for Unqualified Indorsement.

STEAM ROLLER IS READY TO CRUSH STAND-PATTERS

Insurgents, Led by Dolliver and Cummins, Will Dominate the Convention and Taft and Stand-patters Will be Shown Very Little Consideration.

Des Moines, Iowa, August 2.—Politics was in active eruption here today preliminary to the republican state convention tomorrow. Tonight a dark line may be seen dividing the stand-patters and the progressives.

On one side of the line the stand-patters gathered several hundred strong today and decided to insist on a plank indorsing President Taft and the official acts of his administration and of the recent congress and to indorse the Iowa insurgent delegation only insofar as it has been regular. In other words, they supported the administration on the tariff and railroad legislation.

Contention of Insurgents.

On the other side the progressive leaders contend that Taft should be mentioned only to the extent that he has endeavored to carry out the planks of the national republican platform.

The stand-patters decided to insist on an indorsement of Governor Carroll. The insurgents agreed to an indorsement of the state administration without mentioning the governor's name.

Both meetings were enthusiastic. At the stand-pat meeting former Congressman Lacey sounded the keynote:

"Let us fight!" he said, "and if the steam roller passes over us, let us go down to defeat carrying the flag of true republicanism with us, while the majority who vote us down bear the odium of having refused specific indorsement of a great republican president, who has carried out every promise of the republican party. We must remember two things—first, that it is necessary that Iowa go republican and second, and most important, it is neces-

CRANE INFORMED BALLINGER COUNTRY BELIEVES PINCHOT

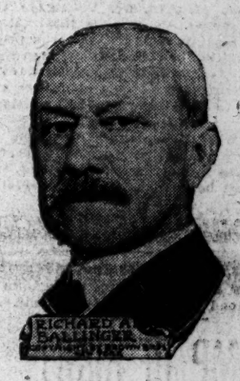

W. Murray Crane and Gifford Pinchot.

Following a conference with President Taft, Senator Murray Crane went west, met Secretary Ballinger and suggested that the latter was breaking back of Taft's administration and that he ought to quit the cabinet in order to save the party in the elections next fall.

$9,424.38 INCREASE AT LOCAL POSTOFFICE

The Receipts for July of This Year Show Total of $79,770.23.

The receipts for the month of July at the Atlanta postoffice were $79,770.23. For the corresponding month last year the receipts were for the thirty-one days $70,345.85, making a difference of $9,244.38 in favor of July, 1910, over July, 1909. That nine thousand and odd dollars marks about the largest monthly increase shown at the Atlanta postoffice within its history. It is the initial month of Postmaster McKee's first fiscal year, he having been made postmaster only a few months before the close of the last fiscal year, and he is well pleased with the showing made.

BALLINGER LOAD BREAKING TAFT AND THE C. O. P.

Increasing Evidence That Administration Wants to Get Rid of the Secretary.

SUGGESTED TO BALLINGER THAT HE OUGHT TO RESIGN

Taft Says He Won't Dismiss Ballinger, but It Is Not Denied That President Would Like for Secretary to Quit. Leaders Say Ballinger Is Too Heavy a Load for the Party.

Beverly, Mass., August 2.—There was increasing evidence here today that the recent bombardment of the president with letters from republican leaders in all parts of the country, protesting that Secretary of the Interior Ballinger was proving an embarrassment in the laying of plans for the coming congressional campaigns, is beginning to have effect, if not upon the president himself, at least upon the advisers who are closest to him.

Crane Asked Ballinger to Quit.

No attempt was made today to deny the reports that Senator Crane, at the very outset of his political pilgrimage in the west, had probably suggested to Secretary Ballinger at Minneapolis yesterday that his duty to the party might require that he sacrifice his place in the cabinet. All that Secretary Norton would say after having considered the matter nearly all day, was that it would be necessary to ask Senator Crane.

The statement was reiterated, however, that President Taft would not as much as "lift his little finger if so by doing he could secure the retirement of the secretary of the interior department."

Ballinger Too Heavy a Load.

In addition to the letters he has received, the president has heard verbally from a number of the party leaders regarding the sentiment toward Secretary Ballinger. They have talked frankly with President Taft on the subject, it is said, and while they have agreed with the president apparently in his position that nothing has been proved against Secretary Ballinger, they have put the matter purely on a party basis and have said that the campaign would be much easier with the Ballinger issue eliminated.

The leaders have asserted that the fight is going to be a hard one at best, and while they feel sorry for Mr. Ballinger, they regard his presence in the cabinet as a hardship.

Ohio's Protest Against Ballinger.

President Taft was told a few days

BATH OF VITRIOL GIVEN CHILDREN

Eleven Little Ones Are Burned at Philadelphia.

Two Are Dead and Two Critically Injured --- Nine Men Burned in Rescuing Children. Children Riding on Truck Carrying Carboys of Vitriol.

Philadelphia, Pa., August 2.—Two children are dead, two others are critically injured and seven more are terribly burned, as the result of the upsetting of a truck loaded with carboys of vitriol on which they were riding today. The driver of the truck and eight other men who helped to rescue the children from the fiery fluid are suffering from severe burns.

The Dead

The dead are:

RAYMOND DAGER, 7 years old.

CATHERINE DANIELS, 9 years old.

A fire department supply wagon carrying four 15-gallon carboys of vitriolic acid, and on which ten children were riding, broke an axle as it was turning out of a street car track to let a trolley-car pass at Eighteenth street and Ridge avenue. The breaking of the axle upset the vehicle, spilling out the children and the carboys. The carboys broke, and in an instant the ten youngsters were covered with the deadly acid.

Their Screams Frightful.

Their screams were frightful, as the vitriol burned off their clothes and began eating away their flesh. The driver of the wagon, Richard Greal, passengers from the trolley car and a policeman promptly went to their rescue and tore the clothes from the children as best they could. Each one that touched the saturated clothing of the children were burned, some so painfully that they were further unable to help the suffering children. The greatest excitement prevailed, and ambulance calls were sent in.

Grear was giving the children a ride in making the rounds of the fire stations. The acid was being taken to a fire station for use in chemical engines.

Accession Oath Amended.

London, August 2.—The accession declaration bill, striking out the phrases offensive to Rome Catholics in the declaration made by the king after accession and substituting merely the words, "I am a faithful Protestant," was passed by the house of lords upon third reading today. No changes were made in the formulas adopted by the house of commons.

MEAT INSPECTOR PUT ON TRIAL

Examination Will Consume Several Sessions.

One Witness Against Abraham Wasser Declares That He Is Insulting in Manner and Doesn't Know Good From Bad Meat.

Trial of the city meat inspector, Abraham Wasser, upon the charges brought against him by sixteen butchers of the city, that "he is not a fair and impartial man," and that "he favors the packing houses," started last night in the council chamber at the city hall, the members of the board of health and the council committee on sanitary affairs acting as judges.

The council chamber was packed, and with the exception of the judges, the counsel for prosecution and defense, there were only about ten or twelve present who were not there in the capacity of a witness for either side. At the outset it was shown that the number of witnesses to be examined will consume at least three or four nights, so it was decided to hear a portion of the prosecution, and adjourn at 11 o'clock until 8 o'clock tonight.

Charges Against Wasser.

In the charges brought against the inspector it is stated that on June 3 he passed as sound some rotten meat in the packing house of Jacob Dold Packing Company, on Alabama street; that said meat was sold to J. T. Mitchell, a butcher on Decatur street; that after being sold the latter parties asked that it be inspected; that the inspector first said it was all right, that next he condemned it; that he refused to make a case against the packing house. It is further cited that during the latter part of June the inspector made a case against W. F. Morrill, who runs a market on White hall street; that after others had inspected the meat that the inspector withdrew the charges.

The principal witness for the prosecution at the session was G. W. Coffey, who runs a slaughter pen. He stated that these two cases were taken in hand for a motive, that motive being an effort to show up the "inspector." He stated that he saw the meat sold to Mitchell while it was in the packing house, and that it was unsound, yet the packing house people claimed the inspector had passed it as all right. He also saw the meat condemned at Mr. Morrill's place.

J. T. Mitchell, who bought the meat

GOVERNOR BROWN BEGINS MESSAGE

Will Review Acts of His Administration.

Mail at Brown Headquarters Unusually Heavy and Force of Clerks Kept Busy Answering It and Sending Out Literature.

Governor Brown yesterday began the preparation of the card which it was announced he would issue the latter part of this week.

In this card, the first he has written during the present campaign, the governor will review the acts of his official administration: tell what he has done, and what he has refrained from doing, for the advantage and benefit of the state.

In a campaign pamphlet, issued by the Smith headquarters, the pages devoted to the Brown administration are left blank. Governor Brown's statement of issues will give some facts which might have been put there.

Tuesday was a busy day at Brown headquarters. The mail was unusually heavy and the force of clerks were kept busy answering it and sending out campaign literature. Reports received from Americus are that active work is being done by the Sumter County Brown club and that its activity extends to all the surrounding country.

Hon. Ed Maddox put in an especially busy day, and as one report after another came in showing the steadily brightening prospects of Governor Brown, he fairly beamed. Mr. Maddox left for Rome on the 5 o'clock train and will spend today there. He was unable to leave as usual on Saturday afternoon, owing to the Brown rally on Saturday night.

It is expected that J. R. Smith will return to the city after an absence of two weeks. He will devote as much time each day as he can spare in directing the affairs of the campaign until the primary of August 23.

MANY CARS FIRED BY THE STRIKERS

Winnipeg, Man., August 2.—Following a disturbance at the company's shops here early today, where there are 500 carmen on a strike, a mob of rioters stoned the enclosure of the shops, where strike-breakers board. No one was reported hurt.

In another part of the yard 30 freight cars were set on fire and destroyed.

One hundred special police were put on duty

SMITH TO MAKE ADDRESS TODAY

Former Governor Will Speak in Monroe.

This Address Will Be in Nature of Lecture, but on Friday Night Candidate Will Deliver Political Broadside in Atlanta.

Former Governor Smith left Atlanta last night for Monroe, where he will today deliver his address, "The South in the Sixties." There will be no politics in the address, but the theme of the lecture will be pursued throughout.

On Friday night in Atlanta Mr. Smith expects to deliver his political broadside to the voters of Fulton and surrounding counties.

Every effort will be made by the Hoke Smith Clubs, of Fulton, and adjoining counties, to crowd the big Auditorium, with the confident expectation that Mr. Smith will convert to his following all those who attend the meeting, even if they should be antagonistic before.

Reuben Arnold to Preside.

Reuben R. Arnold will preside at the meeting. It has not yet been announced who will introduce the former governor.

On Saturday Mr. Smith will speak to voters of Floyd county in Rome at 2 o'clock. He will go up to Rome Saturday morning on the Western and Atlantic railroad and will return to the city that night. Brown carried Floyd county two years ago by 523 votes, but plans have been made for a vigorous fight to put the county in the Smith column this year.

The date for Mr. Smith's speeches in Macon, Augusta and Tifton have not yet been announced.

It was reported at Smith headquarters that a Smith man had won a bet of $5 from a Brown man on a wager that there were more men at Brown headquarters at a certain hour than at Smith headquarters.

The Smith campaign managers referred to the statement of Deputy Sheriff Mitchell, of Walker county, in reference to the request for troops to be sent to the Durham mines. The Smith people said Mitchell was so badly frightened over the threats of the Italians that he did not know what happened and was afraid to accompany the troops.

BAILEY CHANGES, SMITH TO BROWN

Smith Men More Interested in Chief Than Policies

Representative From Miller, Former Supporter of Smith, Says Ends of Peace and Prosperity Can Best Be Subserved by Reelection of Brown.

Representative J. W. Bailey, from Miller county, has announced his change of political view and attitude from former Governor Hoke Smith to Governor Joseph M. Brown, and among his reasons states that he finds the Smith leaders are more interested "in taking care of Smith," than in securing the enactment of his policies.

Mr. Bailey says he thinks the ends of peace and prosperity can best be subserved by the reelection of Governor Brown.

What Mr. Bailey Says.

Representative Bailey's card follows:

Editor Constitution: As one of Governor Smith's warmest supporters in two campaigns, and one who came to the present legislature favoring his policies, permit me to register a protest, as a citizen and tax-payer, against this eternal agitation and "playing politics," which is doing the state more harm than all the faults and shortcomings complained of would do, even if they did exist.

It may be stated that the Brown people have been as guilty as those of the other side. However, Smith men have controlled the present general assembly, and they must take the responsibility or repudiate its attitude. I do the latter.

More Interested in Chief.

It is not my purpose to criticise any individual, but as a faction the Smith men seem a great deal more interested in promoting the political welfare of their chief than in advancing the principles for which they pretend to stand. I came here favoring certain principles of government, and certain reforms—and I believe they are more important than any dispute between two men—but I have found that many of similar belief are first interested in "taking care of Smith," and they appear to think they do this when they try to "hurt Governor Brown."

To both these gentlemen as representatives of contending factions, I am inclined to say, "A plague upon both your houses."

While it might be better to get rid of both of them, that being impossible, I think the ends of peace and prosperity can be best served by advocating the reelection of Governor Brown. The charges made against him two years ago have not even been repeated, no less proved. He has gone along quietly attending to the business of the state, leaving the agitation for the other fellow. And the "other fellow" seems bent on the continuance of strife.

My influence and my vote will go to the present governor this year.

Respectfully,

J. W. BAILEY,

Representative from Miller County.

Atlanta, August 2, 1910.

ADVERTISING TALKS
WRITTEN BY WILLIAM C. FREEMAN.

From a business of ONE MILLION DOLLARS ANNUALLY to a business of nearly EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS ANNUALLY seems to be a good reason why the new LORD & TAYLOR organization should choose MR. JOSEPH H. EMERY as its President.

Mr. Emery was an office boy originally, like many other great men. He worked hard—obeyed orders—learned something new every day—was courteous—was fair—consequently he climbed the ladder slowly but surely. When he got to the top, which he frequently did, he pieced out the ladder, put in some more rungs, and still continued his persistent climbing.

He got a strong foothold in the wholesale end of the LORD & TAYLOR business, which makes a specialty of ONYX HOSIERY and MERODE UNDERWEAR. HE ADVERTISED as quickly as he got a right grip on things. Then he advertised some more, and then some more. The business grew from a Million to nearly Eight Millions.

Advertising did not do it all. Organization was a great help. Good men—well paid—rightly treated—threw their whole soul into their work and helped their Chief. You can get anywhere with both a GOOD ORGANIZATION and GOOD ADVERTISING.

GOOD ADVERTISING is the kind that MAKES GOOD its promise to the people. Mr. Emery never permitted any other kind to go out of the shop.

Now comes along a general reorganization of both the retail and wholesale ends of the Lord & Taylor business, and Mr. Emery has been selected to sit in the saddle. He has been selected because his associates know that he cannot be thrown from his seat, neither can he be coaxed to dismount nor be severed from HIS PRINCIPLE OF DOING BUSINESS.

He has A GOOD NAME in Lord & Taylor to build on, which is always a great advertising asset—but his own name is also a tower of strength becuse HE HAS ALWAYS STOOD FOR THE SQUARE DEAL and everybody knows it.

His advertising policy for the retail end will only emphasize what he has accomplished in the wholesale end.

All that is needed to make a business succeed is to let the people know that you have something to sell which is RELIABLE, and the only way to let them know is by ADVERTISING.

from the Dold Company, stated he purchased it to "show the inspector up to the public."

W. R. Armistead, who worked for Mitchell at the time the meat was purchased, stated that when he received it at the market it was unsound.

Meat Was Good.

D. Tye, slaughterhouse inspector of the city, stated that the inspector reported to Dr. Kennedy, the city health officer, the next morning, after having condemned this meat, that it was all right.

W. F. Morrill, the Whitehall street butcher, testified regarding the inspector condemning a bucket of corn beef. He said that several meat men, who are admitted experts, examined the corn beef, ate some of it, and declared that it was sound. After this the inspector withdrew the charges against him.

Charles J. Witherspoon, formerly in the meat business, testified regarding a conversation with Mr. Wasser in connection with these charges. He said the inspector stated he "didn't make cases against the packing house because they kicked." He also stated that he was a friend of Mr. Wasser.

Inspector Insulting.

J. M. Blair, who runs a meat market on Peters street, testified that the inspector "is very insulting in his manner; that he don't know a good piece of meat from a bad piece of meat."

J. F. Davison, who works for T. R. Sawtell, testified that he regarded the inspector as a very competent man. He also testified that he examined the corn beef, which was condemned by Mr. Wasser, and found that it was sound.

This concluded the examination of witnesses for the night.

The butchers bringing the charges are being represented by Attorney Walter Simms, and Inspector Wasser by Attorney Courtland S. Winn.

Funeral of Carlisle.

Washington, August 2.—Funeral service of the late John G. Carlisle, former secretary of the treasury, will be held tomorrow at St. Thomas Protestant Episcopal church in this city, Rev. Dr. C. Ernest Smith officiating. Interment temporarily will be made in the receiving vault at Rock Creek cemetery, and in October the body will be taken to Covington.

For Commission Government.

Montgomery, Ala., August 2.—At a meeting of the city executive committee tonight, an election was called for September 19 to decide whether the members of the Montgomery delegation in the legislature shall use their influence to secure a commission form of government for Montgomery.

RIDGE ROUTE IS SUGGESTED

From Valdosta to Savannah for Round-State Tour

Route From Valdosta to Waycross by the Way of Homerville Has Been Abandoned. Two Other Routes Being Considered.

Savannah, Ga., August 1.—(Special.) Some of the prominent business men here would like to see a good auto touring road which would connect Savannah, Clyde, Baxley, Douglass, Nashville and Valdosta. All these towns are county seats and Savannah considers the counties as her logical commercial territory.

Several members of the chamber of commerce, with whom I have talked, say that highway would be more helpful to Savannah in a general business way than a route via Waycross and Brunswick

The Brunswick-Darien road is essentially a pleasure touring route. It is picturesque and attractive to the motorist, but traverses a thickly-settled section.

The Baxley route runs through a territory, where agricultural development is more advanced.

The motorists here have been active in getting the roads improved between Savannah and Augusta and Savannah and Jacksonville.

They have had the winter travel in mind and this route along the coast will become popular with northern tourists, as they become familiar with it.

Many of the business men here know that the automobile and good roads are daily growing to be more important factors in the commercial relations existing between Atlanta and south Georgia.

They know that in pleasant weather, business men are motoring to Atlanta every day from points 50, 100, even 150 miles away.

They realize that families go in their cars 50 to 75 miles to Atlanta to shop. Their traveling men tell them of the auto travel from the surrounding country and in and out of Atlanta and Macon.

This accounts in part for the interest some of them are taking in the Baxley route. Very little information is to be attained here as to the present condition of the roads through that section. It may not be a practical route for a tour, because hotel facilities are needed to take care of 100 tourists a day for a week or more.

But when President Williamson, of the Savannah chamber of commerce, returns, the round-the-state highway and tour will be brought up for consideration.

Ware county has bridged the streams on her main roads. The bridges are well constructed, too, usually being covered. A good bridge and a foot road is a better combination than a good road and unbridged streams.

nominated without opposition. Both the latter are insurgents.

Charles Sessions was nominated for secretary of state without opposition, and J. H. Dawson for attorney general without opposition.

Great interest was manifested throughout the country in the result of the primary, which was the first real test between the insurgent congressmen and the stand-patters.

The regulars were attacked all along the line by Governor Stubbs, Senator Bristow, Senator Cummins and Representative Murdock. Speaker Cannon came into the state to aid the stand-patters.

"STAND-PAT" REPUBLICANS ARE WINNERS IN OKLAHOMA

Guthrie, Okla., August 2.—With only scattering returns received from about 55 out of the 75 counties of the state, indications tonight were favorable to the nomination of J. W. McNeal, republican, of Guthrie, for governor over Tom Ferguson, Fields and Jones. McNeal places his majority at 15,000.

Returns of the democratic vote are light, and indicate a close race between W. H. Murray, of Tishomingo, and Lee Cruce, of Ardmore, for governor, with the chances rather favoring the latter. The vote of Leslie P. Ross, of Lawton, appears to be light in most of the counties heard from.

In the congressional race there seems to be little doubt of the nomination of B. S. McGuire in the first district, Dick Morgan in the second, C. E. Creager in the third, regular republicans, and Charles Carter in the fourth and Scott Ferris in the fifth, democrats.

The "grandfather clause," the proposed constitutional amendment, denying the right of suffrage to negroes, seems to have carried by 10,000 to 15,000.

RETURNS FROM MISSOURI LEAVE THE RESULT IN DOUBT

St. Louis, August 2.—Results of the second primary election in Missouri, which was held today, were in doubt tonight where more than one candidate sought the party nomination. At 10 o'clock but few scattering returns had been received.

The interest in the local contests was between leaders who sought to control their parties through committeemen. For a judge of the supreme court and state superintendent of schools, the democrats, republicans and prohibitionists filed but one candidate each. Five democrats filed for state railroad and warehouse commissioners, and only one from each of the other parties.

The vote throughout the state was light, and many voters scratched their tickets freely. Six of the ten democratic congressmen, including Champ Clark, were renominated without opposition, and two of them have no opposition for election.

However, before the general election, candidates will be drafted by the republicans to fill the vacancies.

Republicans in the fifth and fourteenth districts had Cannonism before them as an issue. The result from the fourteenth district may not be known for several days, because of the isolated territory the district embraces along the Arkansas line.

Stand-patter Anthony Beaten.

Topeka, Kan., August 2.—Incompleteness indicates that for congressman. First district, T. A. McNeal (insurgent), has defeated D. R. Anthony (stand-pat incumbent) by 2,000 votes.

BALLINGER LOAD BREAKING TAFT

ago that the movement behind James R. Garfield in Ohio, and the votes cast for him in the state convention, were a protest against Secretary Ballinger. The Ohio leaders recognized the strength of this movement by making platform concessions to the Garfield wing of the party.

There was no disposition in Beverly today to treat the meeting of Senator Crane and Secretary Ballinger in Minneapolis yesterday as "accidental." It was intimated, however, that whatever move was being made against Ballinger had its inception and beginning with the active party leaders and not with President Taft. The president, it can be stated, will never ask Mr. Ballinger to resign.

If the secretary should feel called upon to resign, however, there is said to be little doubt that his resignation would be accepted.

Taft Sticks to Ballinger.

The president has received many letters suggesting that Secretary Ballinger, because of attacks made upon him, was proving an embarrassment in the making of plans for the coming congressional campaign. Mr. Taft, having stood by Secretary Ballinger through all his troubles, and still believing in him, has refused to listen to these complaints. They have had their effect on others connected with the administration and the party, however, and it is reported here today that certain of the leaders may have taken it upon themselves to handle the situation.

Secretary Ballinger has repeatedly declared that he will not resign, and among his friends there is a strong belief that he will not resign unless directly asked to do so by the president. This, it is declared here, the president will not do.

HIS ENEMIES ARE DENOUNCED BY SECRETARY BALLINGER

Chicago, August 2.—Secretary Ballinger today denied that his conference yesterday with Senator Crane at Minneapolis, Minn., related to or would be followed by his resignation. He said the matter discussed was not even of interest to him. He denounced his foes in strong language and said he intended to ignore them entirely. His denial was issued after reading the dispatches from Beverly which indicated that Senator Crane's mission to the west was to carry the hint that Mr. Ballinger would aid the party in forthcoming elections by withdrawing at this time.

"There is no resignation on the card, I can tell you," was Mr. Ballinger's reply to this. Continuing, he said: "I am simply on my way to the coast for a little rest. Some want me to make my 'rest' permanent, but it will not be so as long as the president is satisfied. I met Crane yesterday morning, through no arrangement of mine, and the matter we discussed—politics, of course—was nothing which interested me directly at all. Mr. Crane wished to consult me on the matter and came to where I was, that's all. There's nothing mysterious about it. I guess he's gone back east now.

"All this vicious attack by unscrupulous men backed by newspapers with even less scruples goes off me like water off a duck's back. That never will induce me to resign."

sary that the republican party go republican."

Insurgents in Control.

Among those at the insurgent meeting were Senator Cummins, former Judge Jesse Miller, Attorney General Byers, Warren Garst, the defeated progressive candidate for governor, and a host of others.

Senator Dolliver arrived in this city during the day and was immediately slated for permanent chairman, to take the gavel when laid down by Senator Cummins, the temporary chairman. The matter was not decided definitely, however, as Mr. Dolliver said that he would prefer to see the honors passed out "among the boys."

The liquor question will require careful consideration of the resolutions committee tomorrow, if not of the convention itself. Delegates from the river counties are said to be insisting that the platform shall indorse the present law, while the more conservative are said to hold that the question does not require specific mention.

What Stand-Patters Want.

It was nearing midnight when the stand-patter leaders, after a day of ceaseless conferences, drafted a resolution calculated to shatter the last chance for harmony at tomorrow's convention. The text of the planks for which they agreed to fight to the last are substantially as follows:

1. We indorse President William H. Taft and his administration of the affairs of the nation. We indorse him as the leader of the republican party of the nation.

2. We indorse the economical and statesmanlike administration of Governor B. F. Carroll, leader of the republican party in the state of Iowa.

3. We indorse the action of President Taft in placing his signature and his approval upon the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, and to this law we give our full and unqualified indorsement.

4. Insofar as they have aided President Taft in carrying out the polices and program of the administration we indorse the Iowa delegation at Washington.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF BIBB BROWN CLUB

Address Delivered on Monday Night by Hon. Joe Hill Hall.

Macon, Ga., August 2.—(Special.)—There was a decided round of enthusiasm last night at the meeting of the members of the Joe Brown Club in the superior court room. Hon. Joe Hill Hall was the speaker of the occasion. He was going to be the friend of Governor Brown, right on, he said with much enthusiasm, despite the attacks that had been made. He got after the members of council for the park commission fight, but was assured that there was no personal fight on him. With a broad smile he turned aside from this incident and put the issue in the gubernatorial campaign squarely before the meeting in a strong address.

Candidate W. R. Barnes for the legislature was again a speaker, as also was J. W. Callaway. The meeting was a rousing, telling one that made the members feel happy.

PAPAL PARADE CAUSES A RIOT

Clericals and Anti-Clericals Fight in Spain.

Police Forced to Disperse Rival Demonstrations at Vigo. The Liberal Press Says False Statements Are Being Made by Vatican.

Vigo, Spain, August 2.—The police here intervened today to disperse rival demonstrations, the members of which came to blows over the dispute between Spain and the vatican. The Capucines were marching in procession, acclaiming the pope, when they were attacked by the anti-clerical element of the population.

Liberals Attack Vatican.

Madrid, August 2.—The liberal press officially denies the insinuation of the vatican that it only demanded the withdrawal of the bill prohibiting further religious orders until the concordat had been revised, and also points out that the bill in question did not violate the concordat, which recognizes only three orders.

El Liberal says Pope Pius X is now sowing what will be reaped in following the advice of two Spanish cardinals.

Holy See Never Conciliatory.

San Sebastian, Spain, August 2.—Garcia Prieto, the minister of foreign affairs, in an interview today in which he recited the history of the negotiations between Spain and the vatican, denied that the holy see had adopted a conciliatory attitude.

Senor Prieto declared that Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, had adopted dilatory tactics from the first, alleging that the speech from the throne contained points against the Catholic religion.

"We protested our good faith and desire to reach an agreement," said the minister, "when we enforced the decree of 1902, against which neither the curia nor the Episcopate protested. Cardinal Merry del Val demanded that the decree remain a dead letter, although the vatican since that date granted numerous authorizations without the sanction of the Spanish government.

"Finally the demand of the vatican for the withdrawal of the bill permitting non-Catholic organizations to display the insignia of public worship was deemed inadmissible. The recall of Marquis De Ojeda, our ambassador at the vatican, was in full accordance with diplomatic usage when a power with which another power is in relations refused to admit the justified pretensions of the latter or adopts an arbitrary course."

ITALY WILL NOT GET PORTER CHARLTON

Extradition of Wife-Slayer Can't Be Legally Demanded.

New York, August 2.—Italy cannot now legally demand the extradition of Porter Charlton. The legal time limit expired at midnight tonight, and no demand from the Italian government had been received by the United States district attorney for the state of New Jersey.

No steps will be taken for the prisoner's release, however, until September 20, when anyone of three courses may be pursued. His lawyers may demand his release on the ground that there is no charge against him; they may obtain a writ of habeas corpus or they may institute proceedings to ascertain his sanity.

Charlton is confined in the Hudson county (New Jersey) jail, where he has been since his arrest and confession of murdering his wife, Mary Scott Castle Charlton, at Lake Como, Italy.

EVIDENCE IS WANTED AGAINST TEXAS SOLONS

Austin, Texas, August 2.—The state senate this afternoon adopted a resolution inviting Former Attorney General M. M. Crane, of Dallas, and Cone Johnson, defeated prohibition candidate for governor, to appear before the committee on privileges and election next Friday and file formal charges against any member of the legislature who they charge with being guilty of improper conduct during the recent primary election. The resolution is the outgrowth of alleged charges that certain candidates in the primary received contributions from liquor interests.

ROOSEVELT HOBNOBS WITH LABORERS

came to a cross-road and had no idea which way to go. It was dark, and Colonel Roosevelt appealed for help to a passing farmer.

"Thank you," the colonel said, after he had received the information; "I am Mr. Roosevelt."

"Who?" the farmer shouted in amazement.

"Theodore Roosevelt, former president," said the colonel.

"Well, I Swan," Said the Farmer.

The farmer threw up his hands in utter amazement.

"Well, I swan," they heard him say.

Colonel Roosevelt, Lawrence Abbott, who is associated with him in editorial work; Miss Fannie Cochrane and Miss Florence Lucas Sanville, of the Consumers' League of Philadelphia, started away from Scranton.

Th party motored up the Lackawanna Valley road to the village of Dickson City, a typical mining town. The automobile labored until it could go no farther in the hills, and the colonel and his fellow investigators stepped out and walked. There was no sidewalk, and Colonel Roosevelt began plodding in the dust in the broiling sun. No one had recognized him. He walked past two small hotels, each of which had a group of idlers on the porch, but not one of them knew that the former president was in town. He was almost detected when he passed the grocery store. After he had passed, one of a group of men there called out to a member of his party: "Say, that's Teddy Roosevelt, ain't it?" but the others wouldn't believe it.

Roosevelt and Little Girl.

Colonel Roosevelt walked in the dust until he met a diminutive girl. He stopped her and asked her who she was.

"I'm Annie Trykowski, please sir," she said, "and I'm 10 years old."

"What do you do?"

"I work in a silk mill; I'm a winder," she said proudly. "Before you can be a winder, you have to be a bobbing girl. I'm past that."

After timidly answering more questions, the little silk winder walked on home without the least idea of the identity of her questioner.

Jake Kavanaugh, a miner, was walking down the street just then. He had just emerged from the shaft, and he was as black as a man could be. He had on the full regalia of a miner, with big boots, a lamp in his hat, a dinner pail in his hand and a bottle which Kavanaugh had filled with coffee before he started out in the morning.

Roosevelt and Miner Arm in Arm.

Colonel Roosevelt stopped him. Kavanaugh did not know who he was, but he was willing to talk with the pleasant-mannered stranger. He talked in such an interesting way of life in Dickson City borough as viewed by a miner that the colonel took him by the arm, and they walked down the street.

"I want to go home and talk with you," he said, and Kavanaugh agreed.

They walked up a side street to a small frame house, with most of the paint worn off. Kavanaugh led the colonel in and sat him down on the porch. Then he went inside and brought out Mrs. Kavanaugh and the two little Kavanaughs.

It was at the noon hour, so that Kavanaugh had time to talk with the former president, who spent half an hour there.

He went inside the house, looked at the small, neat rooms and complimented Mrs. Kavanaugh on her proficiency as a housekeeper. Then all hands went back to the porch, where the talk concerned the amusements which Dickson City Borough provided for the young folks. Everybody agreed that dance halls, run in conjunction with saloons, are a bad thing.

Roosevelt Advocates Dancing.

"But it is important that the young people be allowed to dance, under proper conditions," Colonedl Roosevelt said.

"Sure, sure it is," Kavanaugh said. "You're right."

Colonel Roosevelt nodded his approval, and, still unrecognized, walked back up the main street. As he passed the home of John Pressman, a venerable man, who used to be a miner, Pressman looked intently at him, and said:

"That was Roosevelt, wasn't it?"

Some one in the party told him when the colonel was out of ear shot that it was, and he retired to the house to put on a collar, saying that he was going to shake hands with the former president. He shouted the news to his neighbors, and the tidings began to spread around the village. Every one in sight stopped work and gazed at the pedestrian.

Miss Cochrane and Miss Sanville took Colonel Roosevelt to the home of Mrs. Roxana Ely, a pioneer. They made Mrs. Ely's acquaintance some time ago, and then introduced the colonel simply as "a friend." Mrs. Ely called her stepson, Williams Sears, who runs a small store, into the house. Sears, in his shirt sleeves, joined the party, although he was obliged to slip back into the store every few minutes to wait on a customer.

The Colonel Drew a Crowd.

One member of the party went into the store to buy some silk.

"They say that's Roosevelt," Sears said confidentially, "but they can't fool me that way. He wouldn't come to see folks like us."

Everybody in the village, however, was convinced by this time, and the whole population crowded in front of the house when the colonel came out. He had to fight his way through the crowd.

Aged John Pressman, by this time, had caught up to the procession, his mutton chop whiskers streaming in the breeze over his shoulders as he hastened along.

"I know all about you, Mr. Roosevelt," he said. "I'm an old republican from New York state. You're a mighty fine man."

The frankness of his compliment did not abash the colonel, who shook his hand warmly.

Pressmen put the question that no man, however great, had dared to ask: "How about 1912?" he asked sturdily.

"What?" Colonel Roosevelt exploded.

Leading Question, Says Roosevelt.

"I am going to vote for you in 1912," Pressman insisted. "What about it?"

"I consider that to be a leading question," the colonel replied, diplomatically.

Mr. Roosevelt tore himself away from the crowd at length, and turning from the main street, walked up a hill. At the top of the hill is clustered a group of ugly black buildings at the mouth of a mine.

Colonel Roosevelt climed three flights of stairs to a dizzy height and reached the top of the chute. The dust was stifling and the heat intense, but the colonel stayed there a quarter of an hour. When he climbed down he was as black as a miner.

The party left the village and motored to Olyphant, 3 miles up the valley. At the edge of the village they stopped at a little eating place and had a luncheon of crackers and milk. Lunch for eight persons cost 62 cents.

Roosevelt Talks to Young Girls.

Colonel Roosevelt then went to the home of Michael Cummings, superintendent of schools, and talked with him about child labor. Then he motored to Peckville, a hamlet 4 miles further north. There is a silk mill in Peckville and Colonel Roosevelt went through it. He spent most of the time talking with young girls who spend their days winding silk thread on spools.

When the colonel drove back to Olyphant he talked for a time with Father Murphy. He found that there was a hall in the parish house where dances are held and complimented the priest on what he is doing to provide amusements for the people.

Roosevelt Meets Mitchell.

From Olyphant, Colonel Roosevelt returned to Scranton. Here he met John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, and went with him to the home of Bishop Hogan, of the Roman Catholic church, where ten Scranton men were waiting to take dinner with them. After dinner the colonel talked over labor conditions with Mr. Mitchell for some time and then went in his automobile to Wilkesbarre, 18 miles away. He spent the night there with Father Curran.

Early in the morning he will start with Mr. Mitchell for an all-day tour of small towns around Wilkesbarre. He refused to make any announcement of his plans.

the day, and predicted a big majority for Smith in Clayton county. I. D. Crawford, of the same county, says he opposes Brown because the governor sent troops to Walker county at the request of a private citizen.

James Davidson states that many Brown men have changed to Smith in Greene county and that Smith will carry the county. He predicts that the Eighth district will be solidly for Smith. T. H. Brooks, of Fulton, formerly of Oglethorpe, says there are many changes to Smith in that county.

P. F. Smith, a prominent cotton man, of Floyd county, says the fight for Smith is whipped in Floyd county. He said W. M. Gammons was working for Smith this year. Mr. Gammons is chairman of the board of county commissioners of Floyd county.

While admitting that the present price of cotton is high, Mr. Smith said the farmers are not inclined to give credit to the Brown administration for the fact.

O. J. Smith, of East Point, another Smith man, came in to shake hands with former Governor Smith and said his two sons and four brothers were all Smith men this year. R. J. Clower, of Brooks county, reported a change in sentiment in that county for Smith.

At twenty-three years of age, Schley Howard enacted a Georgia law which has netted millions to the state. In congress he will do more.

WHY LIVINGSTON SHOULD BE REELECTED TO CONGRESS.

To the Voters of the Fith Congressional District:

On August 23, lessthan four weeks off, you will be called upon to cast you ballot for a man to represent this district in the congressof the nation. In selecting one of the candidates as worny of your vote you should be governed and influenced not by personal prejudices or the hysterical howlings o men who are personally interested, but only and solely by the qualifications of those who are bidding for your suffrage. You should weigh one against the other and decide in favor of the man who has the advantage of such a test.

In making this test, it would be well to bear in mind that it is works and not words which count. Measure a man according to his accomplishments as well as by his capabilities.

Every loyal and patriotic voter will seek to elect the candidate who can best represent the district; the candidate who can secure the greatest benefits to his constituents and his section; the candidate whose presence and efforts in congress will do most toward bringing to Georgia and the South the recognition from the government which they so richly deserve.

With the foregoing preface it is but proper to point out some of the reasons why Colonel Leonidas F. Livingston should again be elected to congress:

He has, during his years of service, become one of the most influential, if not the most influential democrat in the house of representatives, and if the next congress is democratic (which it will most likely be), he will doubtless be Chairman of the Appropriation Committee, of which he is now the Ranking democratic member.

He has secured dozens of big government enterprises for the Fifth district, enterprises which, at first cost, brought nearly $4,000,000.00 to this section and which are monthly circulating thousands here.

He has given especial attention to making rural free mail delivery possible and to perfecting the service since it was inaugurated.

His ability to secure results for his district has gained for him in Washington the sobriquet of "the getter."

There are hundreds of substantial testimonials to the effectiveness of Congressman Livington's efforts.

Not only is he known as the strongest man in congress from Georgia, but other southern states frequently appeal to him for assistance. At this very moment the city of New Orleans is depending upon him to have the government change its specifications so that Georgia granite and marble can be substituted for eastern granite and marble in the construction of the big New Orleans postoffice.

Congressman Livingston caused a similar change in the specifications of the Atlanta postoffice, with the result that the quarries of Stone Mountain and Lithonia furnished the granite used in that structure.

He has supported all movements looking to the protection of the farmer from those who gamble in farm products and his power has ever been exerted in behalf of better highways. He has ever worked to increase the fostering interest which the government takes in agriculture.

He has never failed to get behind anything which the people of his district have desired.

Every Georgian is proud of Atlanta, the capital city of the state and metropolis of the south. Anything that benefits Atlanta indirectly benefits the entire state. Instead of envying the city's progress and prosperity, Georgians are proud to proclaim Atlanta to the world. They therefore appreciate the many things which Congressman Livingston has done for this city; how he helped get the federal prison located here; how he helped to make Fort McPherson the leading army post of the South; how he used his influence to have the war department make Atlanta headquarters for the Department of the Gulf and after the war department moved it from Atlanta, how he successfully had it brought back to this city; how he caused the government to make the Carnegie Library a depository of all government documents; how he aided in securing a new million-dollar postoffice for Atlanta; how his efforts resulted in the government agreeing to turn the old postoffice building over to Atlanta for a city hall; how he aided in influencing the war department to locate one of its principal commissary purchasing stations in Atlanta; how he has prevented the removal of this station which spends thousands of dollars in this section each month for hay, grain, groceries, country produce and all manner of army supplies, and how he has done other things too numerous to mention.

Would it not be unwise for this district to lose the influence in Washington of a man who had accomplished such results and who can accomplish more?

Colonel Livingston is a man of works. It would be a calamity for this district if he was exchanged for an inexperienced man. It is a well-known fact that it takes years for a man of ability and aggressiveness to build himself up an influence in Congress. A man, even if he possessed unusual merits, could be of little service for several years.

The South is just now beginning to receive some recognition of her claims from Uncle Sam, and we need in the next Congress an experienced man.

Colonel Livingston as a member, and likely Chairman, of the Appropriation Committee, could do more for this district and the state in one year than any new man in Congress could accomplish in five.

The question which each voter should answer for himself, regardless of campaign clap-trap, is: "Can the Fifth district at this time afford to lose the services of Congressman Livingston?"

We believe on the 23rd of August, the answer will be overwhelmingly, NO.

FULTON COUNTY LIVINGSTON CLUB.

E. Rivers, President.

HARVEY IS PLACED IN ANANIAS CLUB

Col. Roosevelt Uses Blunt Language About the Editor.

New York, August 2.—Colonel Roosevelt has added another distinguished member to the Ananias Club in the person of Colonel George Harvey, editor of The North American Review.

The initiation took place in the office of The Outlook, of which Colonel Roosevelt is contributing editor, and the new member, while not actually present, was put through with much vim and considerable bounce.

While Colonel Roosevelt did not use the "shorter and uglier word" in connection with Colonel Harvey, his language was distinctly blunt and plain.

The reopening of the club, which was closed just prior to Mr. Roosevelt's departure for Africa, was brought about through an article in the August number of The North American Review, entitled "Is Roosevelt an Asset or a Liability?" and which was signed "The Editor."

In a paragraph at the top of page 151 this sentence occurs:

"But recently Roosevelt, the man, declared that if a national election were to be held next November he undoubtedly would be the republican candidate and would win."

When Colonel Roosevelt saw this his eyes snapped and his teeth clinched as he almost shouted: "That is a simple falsehood; I have never said anything like that."

It was pointed out to Colonel Roosevelt that Colonel Harvey evidently meant to convey the impression that he would be forced to accept the nomination. By this time Colonel Roosevelt appeared extremely angry and again repeating that he had never made the statement attributed to him, made a rush for the waiting elevator.

"It may be unseemly for me to engage with Mr. Roosevelt in a controversy involving a question of veracity. That which I wrote, of course, is true," said Colonel George Harvey at his residence at Deal Lake, last night.

AUGUSTA GREETS SCOUTING PARTY

Met by Big Party at Richmond County Line

Buick Scout Races Big Foreign Machine of President Garrett Into Augusta--Scouts Enthusiastic Over Welcome Accorded Them.

Augusta, Ga., August 2.—(Special.) The Buick scout car, official pathfinder for the All-Around-the-State automobile tour, came into Augusta from Millen and Waynesboro this afternoon half an hour behind schedule time.

Frank Weldon, Connerat, Price and Leatherwood are all joyously enthusiastic over the reception given the scouts by Augusta. It was the biggest, they say, they have been accorded on the whole trip.

At 3 o'clock ten Augusta touring cars left The Chronicle office, headed by Thomas W. Loyless and Cornelius B. Garrett, president of the Augusta Automobile Club, to meet the car in the country and escort the party to the city, which they did. A stop was made just the other side of Gracewood, where the escort met the Weldon-Connerat crew.

An Impromptu Race.

From there to Augusta there was an interesting little contest for speed between Connerat, in the pathfinder, and Prontaut, of Augusta, in his big French machine, giving the pathfinder its best test on good roads since it left Atlanta. Connerat swore by all that was good and holy the official representative of this big state movement would not take anybody's dust when Prontaut tried to show him that Richmond county, by the grace of her good roads, can lead in a break of speed in other directions as well. But Connerat blazed the trail to the city.

The ten escort cars and the pathfind drew up in front of The Chronicle office at 4:30 o'clock, midst all the noise eleven automobiles and a crowd of people could make. The scout party was taken to the Commercial Club for refreshments, and later to the Country Club, where an informal greeting was extended them, including, among others, "The Daddy of Good Roads in Georgia." They will leave Augusta tomorrow.

Lunch at Waynesboro.

Waynesboro, Ga., August 2.—(Special.)—The pathfinders had lunch here today, and conferred with the local motorists. Three owners have decided they will enter their cars in the November tour around the state, Messrs Sydney Jones, Applewhite and W. A. Wilkinson.

Mr. Weldon said that Burke's roads are as fine as any in Georgia. The scouter had a strenuous time last night, as they drove until 4 o'clock this morning, when they reached Millen. Mr. Connerat stated that his Buick made 250 miles from the time they left Savannah until they reached Millen. They came from Savannah by way of Statesboro, Rockyford and Sylvania, arriving here about 9 o'clock. As they could not get hotel accommodations, they drove to Augusta, 32 miles, for supper at 1 o'clock this morning. They left Augusta for Millen. They say they enjoyed the moonlight drive.

Mayor Groover Daniel, of Millen, stated to Mr. Weldon that the city council of that city will take up the question of cooperation tonight.

Sylvania is pulling hard for the tour, and Effingham county is working with Screven.

The scouts left Waynesboro at 3 o'clock for Augusta escorted to the Richmond county line by Waynesboro cars.

The scout car will leave tomorrow morning for Washington, going thence to Athens, where the party will spend the night.

Everyone who is troubled with sore, sweaty, or tender feet—swollen feet—smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions can quickly make their feet well now. Here is instant relief and a lasting, permanent remedy—it's called TIZ. TIZ makes sore feet well and swollen feet are quickly reduced to their natural size. Thousands of ladies have been able to wear shoes a full size smaller with perfect comfort.

It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists 25 cents per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill. Recommended and sold by all Jacobs' drug stores.

WITH THE CONSTITUTION'S PATHFINDERS

THE PROPOSED NEW ROUTES FROM SAVANNAH TO VALDOSTA

Since that part of the All-Around-The-State route between Valdosta and Homerville, as originally announced, has been changed on account of the very bad condition of the road by Homerville through Clinch county, it is suggested by business men of Savannah that the new route go by way of Nashville, Douglas, Baxley, Glennville, Hinesville and Clyde.

This is largely a ridge route and it may be chosen in preference to the contemplated route via McDonald, Waycross, Brunswick and Darien.

It is definitely settled that the Homerville route between Valdosta and Waycross will be abandoned on account of the almost impassable condition of its roads in wet weather.

It is said that either of the other two routes affords excellent highways.

LEGISLATORS OF GEORGIA GUESTS OF JOHN M. SLATON

Hon. John M. Slaton, senator from the thirty-fifth and president of the state senate, was the host of the Georgia legislature at a delightful barbecue at the Cold Springs Cue Club yesterday afternoon.

The guests, including a number of state house officials, went out on special cars from the capitol, and returned the same way to the city.

A happier, jollier, more informal entertainment could not be imagined. Those who could sing, sang, or made a try at it; and those who could dance, even passably, danced. Everything was allowed from a cake-walk to the minuet, not overlooking the old-fashioned Virginia reel.

Hon. Joe Hill Hall was there, and toasted the host as "the next governor of Georgia."

A double sextette of practical jokers broke into song—broke is correct; and sang something to the effect that Mr. Hall was mistaken. Seeing that Mr. Slaton is not running for governor this year and that Mr. Hall himself has announced his candidacy two years hence, the singers escaped unhurt.

The first and second lines of the song were the same and the third was almost like the first. It ran:

You're a liar;
You're a liar;
You're a liar, you are.

The same cheerful refrain greeted the introduction of Hon. Pink Elder, of Oconee, as "the last surviving specimen of the species populist."

When Mr. Hall started to introduce the next speaker—nobody ever spoke—he was interrupted with the question: "Who knows the constitution of Georgia by heart." The answer was "Hon. Hooper Alexander." Then the refrain which assured Mr. Hall that the answer was most untrue.

The same inspiring melody followed the introduction of Hon. Julian Mc Curry, as the handsomest member of the senate, but whether the chorus was led by Senator Morris, of the thirteenth, who justly claims some considerable personal pulchritude, nobody knows.

After that, while Hon. D. F. McClatchey and the other members of the improvised glee club were refreshing themselves with iced lemonade, the square dances were danced, Mr. Hall, Mr. Price, Mr. Elder and Lee Barnes taking the male parts. Mr. Hall's partner was Mrs. W. D. Grant, the mother of Mrs. Slaton.

Senator Price was overheard to remark that he did not have an animal on his dairy farm who was as graceful on the floor as the statesman from Bibb. Mr. Hall stated privately that if he couldn't dance any better than Senator Price he would never let his feet move to the strains of another piece of music.

Representative Edwards, of Walton, was called to the stand, but just as he mounted to respond, somebody tugged at his coat tails just enough to make him lose his balance, and he went down. As he mounted the bench again somebody turned the tables on him by moving the previous question. Mr. Edwards did not speak.

Speaker Holder was called upon, and was greeted with the refrain, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," followed immediately by the irrepressible barber shop quartet with the rfrain, "You're a liar, etc."

Nobody was serious, and nobody got offended, and everybody had a good dinner and a pleasant day.

Friends, countrymen, fellow-citizens and voters of the Fifth district! Out on Peachtree street is a long painting of Col. Livingston, telling the people to vote for him. Do you suppose the Livingston supporters would have stretched Col. Livingston's picture a half block unless they had known that he was gone, and that he might have a chance to recoup? Colonel, you are too close to "Cannonism." The voters just cannot vote for you. It's "agin" their judgment.

SAYS HARDWICK DID NOT INTRUDE

Warm Card for Manager of Campaign Committee.

R. A. Kelly, chairman of the Hardwick campaign committee, has issued a reply to Thomas E. Watson's charge that Mr. Hardwick, in making a date in Thomson on August 6, was "butting in" on Mr. Watson.

To the Public: In the daily newspapers of the state of last Sunday appears an article from Mr. Watson criticising Mr. Hardwick for his intentions to speak in Thomson on the 6th instant. Watson says that Hardwick is butting in on a date fixed by him (Watson) for his friends to meet in Thomson to "denounce" the rule made by the tenth district executive committee. He claims this call was made in The Jeffersonian—the last issue of The Jeffersonian that reached us here on last Saturday, the 30th ultimo.

On July 25, Mr. Hardwick and his friends decided on August 6 as the day for him to speak at Thomson, and so notified his Thomson friends who had asked him to speak there, with the erquest that if this date did not suit them, we would change it.

Can't Really Mean It.

I can't believe that Mr. Watson really means what he says, when he states that he is going to be present and attempt to make a speech when he is not invited, and where he is not wanted, and where he says he is going to denounce Mr. Hardwick so severely that when he is through with that, even his own campaign committee, if they have any self-respect, will not support him. We are amazed that Mr. Watson, who wants to be a leader of the people, the dictator of the politics of Georgia, so far forgot himself in the heat of passion, in his political rage, to call his friends to meet him in Thomson at 9 o'clock on the morning of the 6th "prepared to stand by him until the death." Prepared, how, Mr. Watson? With Gatling guns, shotguns, new pistols, old pistols, old muskets, knives, dirks, any old thing; drunk, riotous, with murder in their hearts, but "come prepared to stand by me until death."

Mr. Watson charges Mr. Hardwick in 1895 with having sent Major Newman, the ordinary, to Atlanta, and, in his absence, having procured the keys to the ordinary's office, stolen and destroyed tax executions against the democrats in order to defeat the populists in the then pending contest election. This is news to the populists of Washington county. I was a populist at the time, and actively so, and I have never before heard Mr. Hardwick's name used in this connection, and since Mr. Watson made the charge, I have made diligent inquiry, and I have been unable to find a single man who has heard Mr. Hardwick's name used in connection with the alleged fraud of 1895, and I unhesitatingly say, from my own knowledge and investigation among the populists and democrats, that this charge is false.

Canceled One Date.

For your information, we had arranged for Mr. Hardwick to speak to the people of Washington county on August 13, but when The Jeffersonian reached us with its announcement of Mr. Watson's intention to speak in Sandersville on the same day, Mr. Hardwick's friends promptly canceled his appointment to speak here, so that there would be no conflict between them here.

R. A. KELLEY,
Chairman Hardwick Campaign Committee.
Sandersville, Ga., August 1, 1910.

Come on, boys; give all your votes to Schley Howard, just to make this thing unanimous.

RUSHING WILL REMAIN HOUSTON TAX COLLECTOR

Committee Met to Consider Rescinding Former Action.

Perry, Ga., August 2.—(Special.)—The democratic executive committee met at the courthouse at 10 o'clock. The committee of five appointed by Chairman J. P. Duncan to investigate their right to rescind their action declaring J. W. Rushing the nominee of the democratic party for tax collector made the following report:

"We, the special committee appointed by the county democratic executive committee to investigate the legal right, power or authority of the executive committee of Houston county to rescind their action in declaring J. W. Rushing the nominee of the democratic party, he having been elected in a primary held on the 3d day of May, 1910, respectfully submits the following report:

"We find from investigation that there is neither law nor precedent touching this case. We, therefore, recommend that the democratic executive committee take no action in matter of rescinding their former action in declaring him the nominee. J. H. Clark, J. T. Lisenby, J. J. Culler, J. H. Davis, chairman."

All the committee signed the above report except W. H. Talton, he refusing to sign and be bound by it.

Upon motion of the chairman, J. P. Duncan, a vote was taken, in which fourteen members voted for it, twelve against it, seven not voting at all. Whereupon the meeting adjourned to take no further action in the matter.

MRS. BERNARD ENJOINED FROM SELLING HER HOME

Purchasers of Tickets in Recent Raffle Appeal to the Courts.

A bill in equity was filed yesterday by over a hundred purchasers of tickets in the recent raffle of the house at 15 Edwin Place against Mrs. Nettie Bernard, B. Bernard, Walter Lowe, W. O. Mashburn, W. J. Govan, James Sharpe, E. E. Limbaugh, A. Cruikshank, Paul Burkert and the Tumlin-Stephens Company, asking that the court adjudicate the charges of fraud and conspiracy made by the petitioners against Mrs. Bernard and B. Bernard.

The plaintiffs charge that the raffle was a "deeply concocted, gross and most wicked fraud," and that they have no relief unless the court take up the matter. They say that Bernard secludes himself in his home on the pretext of illness and that he is preparing to leave the state as soon as he can collect what remaining money he realized through the lottery, and that Mrs. Bernard is preparing to sell the house.

The plaintiffs asked that Mrs. Bernard be restrained from selling the house in question, which the petitioners claim, was fraudulently won by J. H. Le Cavalier, her brother, and that if necessary a receiver be appointed to take charge of the house and sell it for the benefit of the ticket holders.

Judge Pendleton signed the injunction and set the case for August 15.

Judge J. T. Pendleton yesterday signed an order withdrawing the suit of Mrs. M. V. Shearer against C. G. Shearer and others for divorce and for the settlement of property interests.

The suit has been pending several months, ever since Shearer left the city with Mrs. Cauble, but some time ago a rumor that Shearer had died suddenly in Florence, Italy, was confirmed by the Washington officials. The withdrawal of the suit followed that announcement.

Judge L. S. Roan yesterday signed an order authorizing Joseph Thomson, receiver for the Aragon Company, to sell a stock of cigars and similar things to the Collier brothers, who have assumed charge of the hotel. The amount of the sale is $750.

Judge J. T. Pendleton yesterday granted a charter to Sapp's Pharmacy, incorporated by E. F. Sapp and others, with a capital stock of $10,000.

Three Little Boys Killed.

New York, August 2.—Three little boys, who had been searched for since they were missed from their homes on Madison street, in Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon, were found dead today in a near-by vacant lot, where a sand embankment had fallen upon them while they were at play. The presence of the bodies in the sand pile was discovered by a dog playing with his boy master in the lot.

CITIZENS OF CHAMBLEE PLAN GOOD ROADS RALLY

The local committee from Chamblee, in charge of the arrangements, was in Atlanta on Tuesday to perfect the plans. The 'cue, which is to be served at the springs at 1 o'clock, eastern time, is to be prepared by the famous 'cue cocks of L. B. Folsom, of Atlanta.

The 'cue is to be preceded by a number of short addresses, which will include those by Clark Howell, J. S. B. Thompson, assistant to the president of the Southern railway; Dr. E. L. Worsham, state entomologist; Judge J. R. The speaking is to begin at 10:30 o'clock, eastern time. The local committee, headed by M. C. Carroll, John Adams, Dexter Long and others, is now engaged in building the speakers' stand and pavilion for this gathering. JUDGE GIVEN POISON AND ROBBED OF $2,000

No Clew to the Murderers of West Virginia Lawyer.

Parkersburg, W. Va., August 2.—The murderers of former Judge James A. Watson, attorney and oil mill man who was found dead on his doorstep last Friday morning, are still at large.

Developments before the coroner's jury were not such as to warrant any arrests.

It is now regarded as a certainty that Judge Watson was murdered by strychnine poison administered to him after which he was robbed of more than $2,000.

The coroner's inquest will continue tomorrow, and the authorities still have hopes of tracking down the guilty parties.

Schley Howard will never vote for "Cannonism."

Oil and Fertilizer Company Asks Sheriff's Aid

Personal Encounter Follows Granting of Injunction Restraining C. F. and J. E. Coffee From Removing Sand From Peachtree Creek.

The dispute between the Atlanta Oil and Fertilizer Company and C. F. & J. E. Coffee, which developed when Judge J. T. Pendleton granted the company temporary injunction Monday afternoon, restraining the Messrs. Coffee from removing sand from the Peachtree creek at a point near Minor, a station on the Seaboard Air Line railroad, where the stream crosses the company's land, received a fresh impetus yesterday at noon when the company requested Sheriff Mangum to send deputies to protect their property.

The clash came to a head Monday night, following the granting of the injunction, when a personal encounter occurred between J. E. Coffee and W. S. Jessop, superintendent of the ice department of the Atlanta Oil and Fertilizer Company. Mr. Jessop and a party of laborers had begun the repair of the company's dam, which had been mysteriously torn down some days before, when Mr. Coffee and a number of his associates appeared on the scene. It is said that Coffee's language was so abusive that Jessop knocked him down.

L. G. Neal, vice president of the company, alleges that the Coffees have made threats to "get even," and that he does not know whether the threats were made in a legal or a personal way. One of the Coffees, he says, was carrying a shotgun near the scene of the trouble Monday night.

Mr. Neal says that he does not know how long he will have the deputies to stand guard over the property, but that they will at least remain for the rest of the week and perhaps until the hearing of the injunction, or all summer, if necessary.

The officials of the fertilizer company alleged in their injunction that the Coffees had affected their manufacture of ice by removing sand from the creek above the plant. It is understood that the company built a dam and installed a box to get the proper flow of water into their pipes, the water being turned back into the creek after being used for cooling purposes.

At an early hour this morning no attempt had been made to carry out the threats it is understood have been made, but the two deputies have not ceased their vigilance, as the company anticipates trouble unless the property is guarded.

FAIR WEATHER EXPECTED, BUT SHOWERS MAY COME

Weather Man Believes It Will Be Better to Be Ready for Sprinkles.

No matter what the weather is
We seem to be complaining.
We do not want it to be hot,
We do not want it raining.

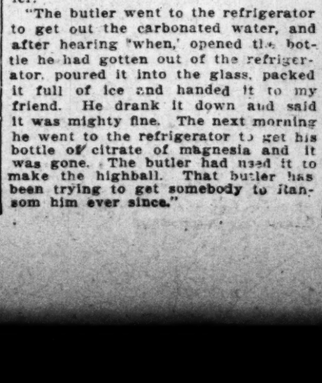

And yet, along in August days,
We must have cooling showers,
Or else a hot and sultry time
Will surely then be ours.
—G. N. H.

It will be fair today unless—and here is the rub—unless there should chance to be a local shower caused by the intense heat. It is not over warm in Atlanta at this time, and yet it is too warm to suit the average citizen. People will complain of the heat, and if a rain comes up that stops a baseball game or forces us to cut out some other contemplated pleasure we complain.

There is an old fable about a convention of all the people who met to take the weather in hand in order to make it please everybody and no program could be devised that met with the approval of all. So it is today. It recalls the old nursery rhyme about the "hot cross buns"—"some liked them hot and some liked them cold."

"Well, sir," said the Gopher, "there is no end to tastes in summer drinks. I've got a friend who holds the record for having the most unique concoction ever compounded by any mixer, barring none. The other night he wanted a high ball and so informed his butler.

"The butler went to the refrigerator to get out the carbonated water, and after hearing 'when,' opened the bottle he had gotten out of the refrigerator, poured it into the glass, packed it full of ice and handed it to my friend. He drank it down and said it was mighty fine. The next morning he went to the refrigerator to get his bottle of citrate of magnesia and it was gone. The butler had used it to make the highball. That butler has been trying to get somebody to ransom him ever since."

HE ISN'T PARTICULAR ABOUT HIS DRINK.

MANY COMPLAINTS AGAINST "SHARKS"

Borrowers Say Lenders Are Lending Every Effort to Make Them Miserable.

As the September term of the superior court draws nearer, the "money sharks" of the city, it is said, are bending every effort to make life miserable for those who testified against them in the recent grand jury investigation. On the other hand, the Atlanta Legal Aid Society is sparing neither time nor pains in its efforts to assist those whom the money lenders are attempting to hurt and the war goes merrily on.

Practically ever since the close of the grand jury's investigation of the "money sharks'" methods, the money lenders have been doing everything in their power to harass those who testified against them, according to statements of some of the borrowers, who charge that garnishments have been sworn out and money illegally tied up, cut-of-date consignments have been used to stop the payment of wages and salaries, and, in many instances, efforts have been made to bulldoze the witnesses into failing to appear when the trials come off in September.

The witnesses have not been left to fight their battle alone, however. C. B. Shelton, attorney for the Atlanta Legal Aid Society, and other members of the firm of Ogburn, Dorsey & Shelton, are doing everything in their power to counteract the efforts of the money lenders. Witnesses, whose testimony before the grand jury has caused them to become the objects of the money lenders' ill-will, appear at their offices daily and when it is found that they are being illegally oppressed the matter is at once taken up and everything possible done. In the majority of the cases, it is stated, a means of successfully fighting the "sharks" is discovered.

The promoters and attorneys of the Legal Aid Society wish to make it plain to the public, however, that they have never even considered attempting to prevent the payment of an honest debt. It is only where the applicant is being illegally dealt with, and is unable to secure legal advice because of straitened circumstances, that the aid society takes a hand.

There are so many of this class of cases, however, that Mr. Shelton and his associates are finding plenty to keep them busy. Their offices in the Candler building, which are being temporarily used as headquarters of the aid society, receive visits daily from those whose testimony have "put them in bad" with the particular "shark" to whom they are indebted.

The money lenders will be arraigned in the superior court at the September term and both Solicitor Hill and Attorney Shelton believe that the efforts of the money sharks to drive the witnesses out of town or into temporary retirement will have proved futile.

To Organize Loan Company.

W. Woods White, one of the prominent figures in the fight against the loan men, stated that the work of organizing the $100,000 loan company with which it is proposed to fight the short loan men, will be begun in the immediate future. Mr. White has been out of the city for the past several weeks, but expects to take up the work this week.

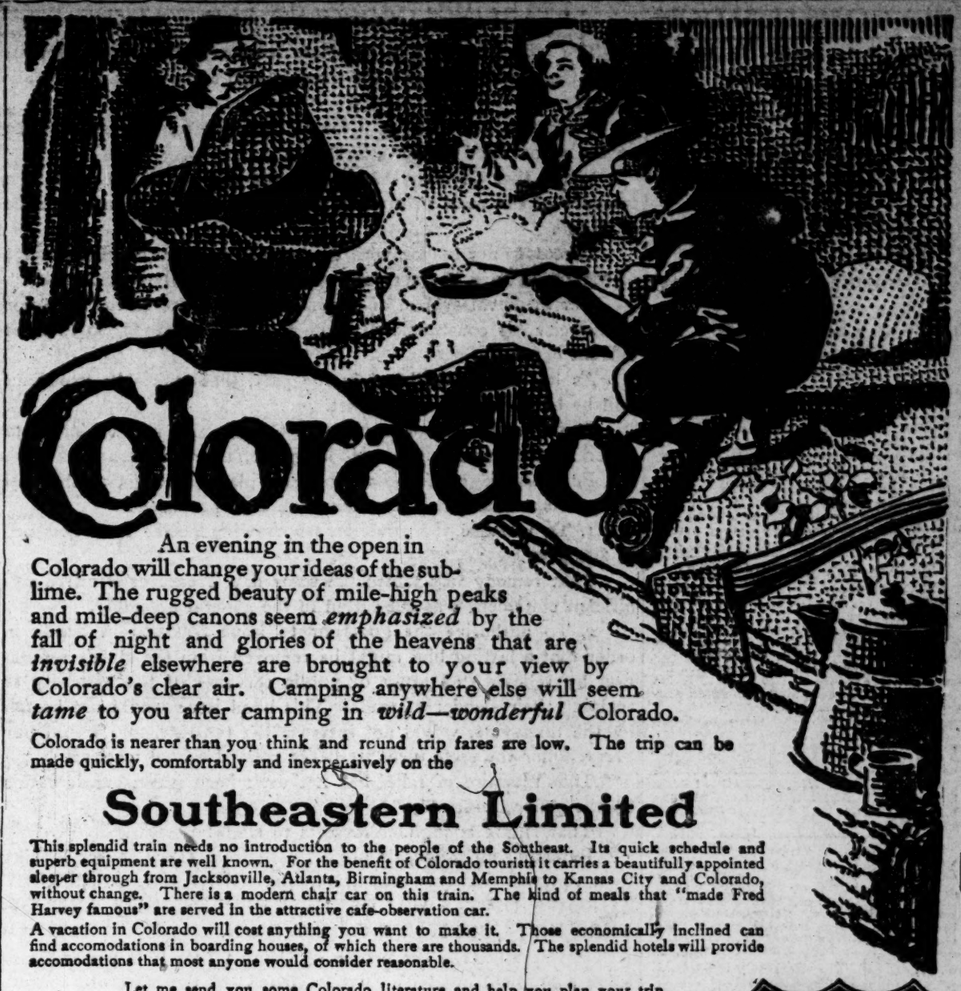

It is proposed, it will be remembered, to organize a stock company with a capital of $100,000, the object of which will be to lend money to worthy persons at a rate of interest as low as possible to make the plan feasible. The stock in this company will be sold in small quantities in order to give the general public an opportunity to assist in the good work. Some of the promoters believe that it will be wise to invest the control of the concern in the hands of voting trustees to preclude any possibility of its falling into the control of persons who would operate it as a money-making proposition.

HOT-WEATHER DIARRHEA

In the summer people of all ages are very subject to "running of the bowels." Germs get into the food or water, find their way into the intestines and keep irritating them, so that there is a constant desire to have movement. It is very weakening, destroys appetite, disturbs sleep and produces an itchy feeling that many suppose to be piles. There are many "quick cures" for this aggravated form of dysentery, but they usually contain a narcotic, and that is dangerous. Others try salts and laxative waters, but they have no permanent effects. It takes a remedy with ingredients such as are combined in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to drive out the trouble-causing germs, to clean out the intestines, to strengthen the stomach and enliven the liver. Ordinary remedies cannot do this, but it is a well-known fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does do it. Thousands use it every summer for this very purpose. Go to your druggist today and buy a 50-cent or $1.00 bottle and see what it will do for you. It is guaranteed to do what we claim or money refunded. WILL CONSIDER PRIMARY RULES

Meeting of Tenth Congressional District Committee Called for Augusta.

For the purpose of considering the rules which shall govern the primary in the Tenth congressional district, Chairman R. N. Hardeman has issued a call for a meeting of the committee to be held in Augusta on August 5.

At a previous meeting, held in Augusta, the committee adopted rules for the primary, but since the action of the committee has not given general satisfaction the chairman has called a second meeting, to be held on the date mentioned. Regarding the call for the second meeting, Chairman Hardeman says:

"It would be utterly insincere, not to say untruthful, for me to attempt to deny that since the action of the committee at Augusta on June 11, the demand that the committee should be reconvened for the purpose of reconsidering its action in respect to the rules adopted for the primary has become so widespread and pressing as to indicate that a majority of the party in the district desire a reconvening of the committee. This demand comes, not from the friends of any one candidate, but from the friends of all the candidates—from some who think that the committee adopted an incorrect rule, and from others who think that the correct rule has already been adopted, and that the reconvening of the committee and the reenactment of the rule (if the committee should see fit to reenact it) would tend to dispel any belief that it was improvidently passed in the first instance and, consequently, would tend to relieve friction and to restore harmony."

Don't believe the opposition's hot-air! Livingston's supporters claim the earth, and they can't show an acre.

BROWN CLUB FORMED IN MUSCOGEE COUNTY

Rousing Meeting Held in the Courthouse at Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., August 2.—(Special.) At a rousing meeting tonight at the courthouse a Muscogee County Joe Brown Club was organized. The large court room was filled and great enthusiasm prevailed. J. A number of snappy talks were made, and the opinion was confidently expressed that the Brown victory of two years ago would be repeated in Muscogee. The club begins life with large membership.

ANOTHER ARREST OF NIGHT RIDER

Situation Growing Tense in Lyon County.

Paducah, Ky., August 2.—Another arrest was made today in the night rider trouble which has stirred up Lyon county for the past few days. The coroner and the county officials will probe the matter tomorrow. There is much feeling on both sides. Thomas Leitchfield stated today that he knew who had fired the shot that killed Axel Tree Cooper at the barbecue last Saturday, and will announce the man's name at the investigation tomorrow.

The four men arrested by the militia have not been turned over to the civil authorities, notwithstanding the instruction to do so from Governor Willson.

Dynamite was found today in wheat stacked for threshing on the farm of Milton Oliver, the self-confessed night rider, and the man who was wounded several months ago, presumably by night riders. The men employed by Oliver on learning of the dynamite, refused to handle it. Cooper was a tenant on Oliver's farm. The farm is guarded night and day by a detachment of state militia sent here by Governor Willson shortly after the attempted assassination of Mr. Oliver.

"How much the baby looks like its father," said the visitor who meant to be agreeable.

"It's only the warm weather," replied Mrs. Rasper. "The child is usually right cheerful and handsome."—Washington Star.

POSSES ARE STILL PURSUING NEGROES

Wire Communication Is Renewed With Dady, Fla.

Bonifay, Fla., August 2.—The telephone lines to Dady, the scene of the murder and lynching, are up, and reports have been confirmed that four negroes have thus far been lynched by the infuriated citizens of Dady, avenging the murder and rape of little Bessie Morrison.

Posses are out now hunting two more negroes who are thought to have had knowledge of the murder. It has developed that the negroes expected to also rape and murder the mother of the girl and kill all the children, but their plans failed. Excitement is at fever heat, and a wholesale killing of negroes is expected. A great throng was at the burial of the little girl.

Mt. Ballinger still in eruption.

They have put a crimp in Crippen.

Now, if the wireless could just be put on Billy Patterson.

Wonder if they got a moving picture of the Crippen capture?

Somewhere, some time, we seem to have heard of one Dr. Cook.

The "Iowa idea" seems to be to smash every head that shows itself.

Suppose the government made the widows, like the millers, stop bleaching!

The good roads issue is one that puts the everlasting kibosh on partisanship.

The girl with the ventilator shirtwaist has us mere men skinned these sultry days.

Some people in Texas are still of the opinion that Mr. Bryan "can't come back."

At least, there's the consolation that Dr. Crippen will not take the lecture platform.

Regarding the subjugation of Uncle Joe, the insurgents might take a few dots from the sun.

There ought to be some fine big sticks in all the political clubs being carved out in Georgia.

Uncle Sam might now take a census to discover how fast the houseflies are disappearing.

Still, the rival claimants in the state campaign are meanwhile developing fine imaginations.

The regulars doubtless explain the Colonel with the theory that it takes all sorts of men to make a world.

As governor of New York, Mr. Pinchot could call out the militia every time Ballinger invaded the state.

And now, just as they're thinking about digging up the Maine, poor old Spain proceeds to blow up in a civil war.

Doubtless, the legislator guests of Senator Slaton yesterday evinced fine qualities of benevolent assimilation.

It is difficult to understand how the Colonel sits tight in Oyster Bay with a lovely shindy brewing in Spain.

It was a safety pin that gave Miss Leneve away. Lack of one has often done that same thing with countless women.

The Georgia house of representatives seems to maintain the most capacious table of any legislative body in existence.

While all the melodramatic features are centering on Dr. Crippen and his paramour, the most tragic "commonplace" is being enacted in Los Angeles.

Is there the father of the accused murderer lives.

"I did the best I could," he said, "and now, in my old age, I am alone and overwhelmed by this disgrace."

Nothing startling or fascinating there—just the everyday pathos that so often blasts the sunset years of the parents of the prodigal.

"TABLING" GEORGIA'S REPUTATION.

The official report of the state treasurer, Hon. J. P. Brown, shows that on September 1 the treasury will carry a balance of only $20,871.

From this sum $12,144 must be deducted for the balance due on the school fund for 1909, last year.

When that payment has been made there will remain in the treasury of the most prosperous state in the south a cash balance of $8,726.

That does not reckon with the balance due for the maintenance of schools in 1910, the current year, which amounts to $1,807,883.

Our medieval system of administration will force the governor to exercise his constitutional right of borrowing $200,000 to meet current expenses.

As has been established in the past, that makeshift expedient will be but a drop in the bucket.

The common school teachers of Georgia will still be forced to go on shylocking small salaries long after they are earned.

For this disgraceful condition that places Georgia at the heel of American states two remedies have been proposed:

1. To increase the governor's borrowing power from $200,000 to $600,000.

That remedy was tabled the same day Treasurer Brown's significant statement was submitted to the general assembly.

2. To authorize the governor to issue $600,000 in bonds in order that a lasting blot might be removed from the state's reputation by relieving an army of public servants of the necessity of scalping their slender stipends. This bond issue would not be felt by the taxpayers, would not increase the tax rate, and would pay every dollar the state owes its badly treated school teachers.

That measure of relief has not even been given consideration by the general assembly.

That is bad enough. Worse is to come!

Rejecting all proposals put forward from every source looking to a removal of this condition, the GENERAL ASSEMBLY THROWS UP ITS HANDS IN HELPLESSNESS AND OFFERS NO SUBSTITUTE OF ITS OWN.

It virtually tells the people of Georgia that it is powerless to solve a problem upon which the demands of the state are concentrated.

It puts the devoted school teachers of this state upon notice that they must, in the future as in the past, contribute 10 per cent of their meager pittances to money-lenders, if they would remain in the service of Georgia—for the borrowing authority granted the counties will not meet the requirement of the situation.

This inverted statesmanship is due either to cowardice or to incapacity.

There is no other choice. Even the disreputable plea of "partisan bickering" has been removed, for the suggestion of neither of the two candidates for governor is given consideration.

A few days ago The Constitution instituted a comparison between the state of Minnesota, with a $4,000,000 balance in its treasury, and the state of Georgia.

As between the combined wealth and resources of the two states there can be no adequate comparison. The book balance is largely in Georgia's favor—made so by the state's ownership of the Western and Atlantic railroad.

And yet—the legislative statesmanship of Georgia can find no remedy for a condition that indicts the state's reputation and that forces its poorly paid school teachers to hawk their meager salary scrips for the money on which to actually live.

Additionally, we have had it dinned into our ears for months that the treasury was bursting with funds.

And yet—the treasury contains barely enough to pay off the law-makers, while they go gaily on with their constructive process of "tabling."

These facts are incontrovertible. We direct them to the attention of the people of Georgia, irrespective of partisan alignment.

TOO MUCH JOHNSON.

Here is the lesson A. A. Virgil, negro pastor of the Warren African Methodist Episcopal church, in Pittsburg, Pa., read to his flock from the Reno disgrace. It ought to be pondered and digested by every thinking negro in America, for it summarizes the racial situation and problem in compass that cannot be abbreviated:

> I believe the members of my race have gone far enough in their jubilant spree over the victory at Reno. "Too much Johnson" has made us mad. The negro is still a missionary people and will be for many years to come. Consider that it took the white race two thousand years to get where it is, and it is still far from perfection. We have harder battles to fight than those of the prize ring. Let the sober mental sides of our natures get a proper hearing. There has been absolutely too much Johnson on our lips and, perhaps, in our hearts.

Exactly!

The white race has not won its battle of the centuries through devotion to such spectacles as those staged at Reno.

It has gone forward in spite of them, and it has steadily made progress in their banishment.

Similarly, the negro must hope to gain headway through the cultivation of the mental, moral and spiritual, and not the jungle instincts.

It required considerable candor for this negro to state that his was a "missionary people and will be for many years to come."

It is, however, the unvarnished truth.

Only as both races recognize it, and enforce its teaching, will the nation settle the problem in which it is interested without regard to section. We may be approaching the day when the religious bodies of both races in all sections will cooperate in a mutual effort at solution.

AMERICAN SWEATING AND BRITISH JUSTICE.

When Inspector Dew took the alleged murderer, Crippen, into custody and, later, when he was jailed at Quebec, there was no attempt at that practice known as "sweating," by which the American police often extort a confession by terrorism.

The British law forbids such undue and often unjustified pressure upon an accused man.

And yet, without resort to this favorite American device, what is the relative showing in law enforcement between the two countries?

England detects and punishes seven-eighths of its criminals.

America, on an average, detects and punishes about one-third of its criminals.

MILLIONS LOST IN GEORGIA MUDHOLES.

Charles T. Smith, of Concord, Ga., one of the best known business men and good roads authorities in the state, declares that haphazard and unintelligent highway construction methods are responsible for more lack of progress toward good roads in Georgia than indifference or niggardliness.

Mr. Smith's statements are entitled to unusual weight in that he has had abundant opportunities for study and observation, all of which he has improved.

His principal indictment is that millions of dollars and incalculable energy is being wasted through unsystematic road-building.

With the commendable aim of improving their highways, many counties go about the work absolutely without reference to what is best for their particular community and its quality of surfacing and subsurfacing material.

As an inevitable result, road-working has in many instances made highways worse, instead of improving them.

Where before the process of "improvement" begun the road was fairly passable, it is now, according to his evidence, cut by gullies, slashed by ruts and left unprotected from the sluicing force of rains or the disintegrating effects of frosts.

Mr. Smith's remedy is a state superintendent of highways and a competent engineer, who will cooperate to introduce system, science and uniformity where now the absence of all three are playing hob with the good roads movement in Georgia.

From present indications, however, Mr. Smith's suggestion stands little chance of being vitalized by this legislature. It will be remembered that only a few days ago former State Senator Steed, of Butler, urged the general assembly to stop quibbling over partisan issues and give Georgia uniform road legislation.

If the state WILL NOT lend its cooperation, the counties have recourse in their own hands. And the quicker it is materialized, the better for the highways of the state.

NAVAL STORES INDUSTRY THREATENED.

According to an Associated Press dispatch from Charleston, S. C., the naval stores industry in that section and through the southern belt is jeopardized by the wasteful and unscientific method of gathering the products of the pine.

The dispatch is authority for the statement that the unprecedently high prices of spirits of turpentine and rosin are due, not to speculative influences, but to the extravagant methods of "boxing" the pine-trees prevailing in the district of which Charleston is the commercial center.

At the present rate this industry, which is a foremost maker of revenue for the south, cannot much longer maintain its present proportions.

The average reader had been under the impression that the lumber and turpentine men, coached by the government, had some years ago adopted the "Herty" method of boxing, which performs all the functions of the old mode, but which does not shorten the life or productivity of the tree.

The charge that it is not being followed, and that extravagance threatens this great southern asset, should be investigated.

Southern states will send representatives to Atlanta to organize a Southern Conservation Association on October 7, forthcoming.

One of the first duties of this association should be to scrupulously investigate such reports as those from Charleston. If found to rest on a basis of truth, it should not be difficult to secure such statutory measures of conservation as will check the despoiling now alleged to be under full headway.

GOVERNOR'S CONTEST.

Joe Brown's Time.
(From The Griffin Daily Herald.)
Isn't it Joe Brown's time to deal the cards?

Whitfield for Smith.
(From The Dalton Citizen.)
Even the Brown men admit Hoke Smith will carry this county.

Faith in the People.
(From The Jackson Argus.)
Let us honor ourselves by putting Hoke Smith again at the head of our state affairs.

Get Plenty to Print.
(From The Nashville Herald.)
There seems to be a disposition among the Brownites to give the opposition organs plenty to print.

The Sanest Policy.
(From The Oglethorpe Echo.)
Looks to us like it would be the sanest policy for the opposition to Governor Brown not to ask him to explain any more.

Sorry and Weak Excuse.
(From The Statesboro News.)
That was a sorry and weak excuse that "Little Joe" put up for sending the troops to the Durham mines.

Made a Mistake.
(From The Ocilla Star.)
An impartial reading of the explanation of the governor will convince anyone that he made a mistake in sending the troops to quell an imaginary riot.

Up to the Working People.
(From The Waycross Journal.)
Colonel English gets the state troops, at the people's expense, to come in and help him out of his wages dispute. Are the working men of Georgia going to stand for it?

Can't See Why He Shouldn't.
(From The Oglethorpe Echo.)
Little Joe's supporters are confident he will carry several more counties this year than he did two years ago and we cannot see why he shouldn't.

Legislation Delayed.
(From The Times-Enterprise.)
In Meigs, of this county, legislation was delayed for some time and the parties at interest are very much incensed at the governor for his refusal to reply to their requests and attend to his duty.

What They Will Claim.
(From The Savannah News.)
The Smith majority in the Georgia senate seems to be doing all it can to balk the Brown policies, and then it will claim that they were flat failures, because they were strangled in their infancy.

Extradited Peaceful Men.
(From The Statesboro News.)
Joe Brown sent the armed forces of the state to the Durham coal mines to carry away and extradite a lot of peaceable men who refused to work further until Jim English had paid them for their services.

Regardless of Position.
(From The Calhoun X-Ray.)
When a man in high position does wrong, he should be criticised. But when he has strictly done his sworn duty, as an officer, he should be commended for it regardless of whether it is Mr. Hoke Smith, ex-governor, or little Joe Brown, governor.

Rousing Majority for Brown.
(From The Macon County Citizen.)
We believe our people understand, and will vote a rousing majority for Brown and Bread in Macon county. They will join the great army of satisfied patriots swelling on from other counties, but, if they will see it no other way, we are willing for them to vote as they will. If "Ephraim is joined to his idols," we are ready, as ever in the past, to bear our part of the burdens.

Goble Was Convicted by Jury.

Judge John Ross defended him.

Well-Known Lawyer Is Confident of Success in Coming Election.

Thomas H. Goodwin, the well-known lawyer, publishes his announcement for recorder in The Constitution this morning.

Mr. Goodwin has served in council from the third ward, and made an excellent record. He entered the race for mayor against W. R. Joyner, and received a very flattering vote. He subsequently ran for mayor in a three-cornered race and made a good second.

Mr. Goodwin has thoroughly posted himself on municipal affairs. He is a good lawyer and has a host of warm friends.

He says he has already received the assurance of a good support for recorder, and believes he will be elected.

THE PASSING THRONG

By Smith Clayton.

The friends of Judge Fred Foster, the distinguished Georgian who has been in bad health for some time, will be glad to know that he is rapidly regaining his strength and will soon be himself again.

Judge Foster spent several weeks at Indian Springs, where he was greatly benefited. About two weeks ago he came to Atlanta and went to St. Joseph's Infirmary, where he has been resting quietly and is now convalescent. In a few days he will return to his home in Madison.

A Pop Call.

Sunday afternoon the writer called on the judge and found him enjoying with great relish his dinner. His color is fine, his eyes bright and his spirits most cheerful.

"Come in," said he, "glad to see you!" I'm feeling fine, walked four hundred yards the other day and, well, I'll tell you, Richard will soon be himself again," and he laughed merrily.

I had never seen this brilliant talker and lovable gentleman in more excellent spirits. He didn't seem to be a bit lonely and was, as of yore, the soul of optimism and good humor.

Prince of Entertainers.

He was soon ready to take a drive, to which he looked forward with the greatest pleasure. His rather prolonged indisposition has certainly sat lightly upon him, and I tell you, there is an inexpressible charm in seeing a strong, joyous-hearted man swiftly regaining his accustomed strength, especially when that man is the prince of entertainers in point of conversational powers, and is so full of vitality, and splendid ideas and the spirit of youth, that he is easily the youngest man of his years in Georgia.

Such buoyancy of spirits is peculiar to brainy, gifted men. It was so with the only "Bob" Toombs, who, when carrying the burden of three-score and ten, could entertain as many as could get within hearing distance of his wonderful talk. Said he:

"Boys, there's nothing in years. I love life and good fellowship same as ever. Anyhow, I'm no old man—not at all. I'll never be anything but a great, big boy!"

About Indian Springs.

"And you want to know what I think of Indian Springs," said Judge Foster, in his sparkling way. "Why it's great. I'll always remember it with pleasure and affection. Not only because the water and rest did me a world of good, but because it is a place of such natural charm, and you meet so many pleasant folks with such kind hearts in their hands."

"The state owns it?"

"Yes, and the surrounding ten acres. Georgia has owned it time out of mind and the water is free to all—and such water! I tell you, it is wonderful, the good it does to sick and tired people. Marvelous the cures which, in some instances, it effects."

Wanted—A Deeper Well.

"But," said he, "let me tell you what the state ought to do at Indian Springs. The water from the creek there overflows the grounds in time of great rains. The state has built a wall there to prevent just such overflows, but this wall is not planted deep enough and the water works and seaps under it, and at times threatens to flood the surrounding country. All that can be readily remedied. Georgia is a great state. Her history, and that of her great men, shows that it has always been her custom to dig deep. She got just a little out of the habit of it when that wall was built. It will not cost a great deal to plant that wall a little deeper, so that when the rains descend, and the floods come, it can laugh them to scorn, and, standing like adamant imbedded, hurl back the encroaching waters, and bid them flow on, confined in their proper channel."

Judge Foster is a candidate for the judgeship of the Ocmulgee circuit, and within a few days will be with his friends in Middle Georgia, who are ardently supporting him in the interesting three-cornered race. The other candidates are the Hon. James Parks, of Greene, and the Hon. James Hines, of Baldwin.

An Editor's Outing.

Nobody enjoys a genuine outing like a newspaper man, the reason being that of all lines of work the newspaper business is the most exacting. You've got to be there every day, and there's no way of putting it off.

I was forcibly reminded of this by the absolute enthusiasm shown by W. Trox Bankston, of The West Point News, who has just returned from a two-weeks' visit to Lanark, off the Florida coast.

Some Fishing.

"It was simply glorious," said Trox. "Wish you and all the boys had been along. Never had a better time in my life! Fact is, I don't know how anybody could possibly get up a better time. We went from that pretty little place, Carrabelle, across the Appalachicola Bay, to the snapper banks. And such fishing I never dreamed of in my most imaginative moods. Didn't know that there were as many fish in the world as we caught. Just took them in by the score. All sorts, too; so many kinds, could hardly name them—snapper, blue fish, trout, perch, tarpon, and, well, you'll just have to take my word for the rest, old man."

The Terrible Shark.

"And, then," Trox went on, "we went over to Ballast Cove, where those awful sharks are, and tried to haul in a few of them. That was not so funny, I can tell you, but it was hilariously exciting just the same. Dr. Sandford, of Cuthbert, was the nimrod of the party. He had a hook—a big one—that cost 90 cents—just think of a costly hook like that—attached to a 90-foot line, the size of a window cord, and thrown out for a shark. There were four of us in the boat, and I had my pocket-knife out, and if that terrible shark had tightened up that line and threatened to capsize our boat, I was ready to cut that line. But he didn't do it."

Only Interested.

"Were you scared?"

"No, not a bit; but very much interested. There is something about shark fishing that appeals to an up-country man. There is an absolute charm about it when you think that everything will come out all right; but when you begin to doubt it, it makes you put your thinking cap on, and you wonder whether you will ever see dear old Georgia again."

"But how about that particular shark, did you land him, Trox?"

"Well, you see, I'm right side up with care, so it's dead certain he didn't land us—there was a struggle all right, and a strong pull—but what a fine time we all had! Everybody treated us royally; the fishing was simply immense, and Lanark, well, great is Lanark!"

LABOR DAY COMMITTEE WORKING INDUSTRIOUSLY

General Committee Will Hold Important Meeting Saturday Night.

Every member of the Labor Day committee is working industriously and zealously for the coming Labor Day parade, now less than a month off. The various committees are holding separate meetings and are rapidly advancing the work allotted. The finance committee is meeting with unusual success in its requests for funds to defray the expenses of the event.

The general committee, of which S. B. Marks, president of the Atlanta Federation, is chairman, will meet next Saturday night in Federation hall on Forsyth street, when all of the committees will report in detail what has been accomplished since the last meeting.

The coming parade promises to be different from all parades in the past in that everybody, including the marshal, will walk except the women unionists, the aged and enfeebled members and the chairman of the general committee. One of the most interesting features of the parade will be the presence of Paul Donehoo, the blind coroner of Fulton county, who is a member of the Musicians' Union, and a splendid musician, in one of the bands, probably the one headed by Jake Matthiessen, beating the bass drum.

INTENSIFIED FARMING SUCCESS IN WHITFIELD

Exhibiting magnificent specimens of Irish potatoes and German millet, W. F. Thacker, of the Grashoff estate, at Carbondale, near Dalton, Whitfield county, Georgia, talked interestingly yesterday of the results which he has secured from experiments in intensified farming made this year on the big farm of 420 acres.

A specimen potato shown by Mr. Thacker measures a little over eight inches from tip to tip, was 9½ inches around, and weighed nearly two pounds. The heads of the specimens of German millet which Mr. Thacker brought with him measured 9 inches—nearly twice as long as the head of the ordinary variety.

In addition to potatoes and millet, experiments are being made in peanuts, alfalfa, velvet beans, etc.

Mr. Thacker is enthusiastic over the success with which his efforts have been met, and states that he finds ready market and splendid prices for all his crops.

BURNETT OUT OF RACE FOR THE CITY COUNCIL

On account of business reasons, R. A. Burnett, better known as Dick Burnett, has withdrawn from the race for council from the third ward. In a card to his friends, he says:

"As my business demands my entire time, it will be impossible for me to continue in the race for council. I wish to thank my friends in the third ward for the interest they have taken in my behalf, and can assure them that for no other reason except the one stated above would I withdraw."

PLAYGROUND FESTIVAL THURSDAY, AUGUST 25

The big playground festival will take place on the afternoon of Thursday, August 25. At a meeting of the park commission yesterday afternoon Dr. Toepel, general manager of the playgrounds, reported that during the month of July 33,000 persons visited the playgrounds, the places being most liberally patronized.

"We have decided to hold our big festival," stated Dr. Toepel, "on August 25. At that time we will give an exhibition of what is done on the playgrounds and will offer fine prizes for the competing teams.

Commissioner Joseph Oscar Cochran has been appointed a committee of one to assist Dr. Toepel in securing prizes and in arranging a suitable program.

Lafayette, Ind., August 2.—Lying on his death bed at his cottage on the Battle Ground camp meeting grounds, the Rev. D. M. Wood, one of the best-known ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church in Indiana, has completed all arrangements for his funeral.

He has selected his pallbearers, even the hymns he wishes sung, the text for the funeral sermon and the clergymen he desires to conduct the services.

Rev. Mr. Wood has been critically ill for several days, and, realizing he must die, began the arrangements for his funeral.

"I am patiently awaiting my transfer to the best appointment I have ever had," he said today in referring to his death.

Advice.

"Father," queried Bob, just home from college, "you've worked for me pretty hard nearly all my life, haven't you?"

"Quite right, quite right, son," mused father, retrospectively.

"Just so," resumed Bob, briskly. "Now you had better get busy and work for yourself a bit—eh, dad?"

MONEY IS READY FOR WAREHOUSES

Sulley's Scheme Will Soon Be in Operation.

One of the Bonded Cotton Warehouses Will Be Established in Atlanta---Plan Has the Indorsement of Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

Dan J. Sully and Scott Dalgleish, who were in Atlanta recently in the interest of a movement to establish throughout the south a chain of bonded cotton warehouses which will issue salable certificates against cotton stored therein, have completed their arrangements, according to advices from New York, and, with ample financial backing, are about to begin to put their scheme into operation. The work will really be taken over by the General Cotton Securities Company, of which Mr. Sully is vice president, and the enterprise underwritten by the Hirsch syndicate, of London, which Mr. Dalgleish represents, it is said.

The enterprise is really Mr. Sully's idea, the famous ex-cotton bull having made more than one trip to Europe for the purpose of interesting European capitalists in the project. It was through his efforts, it is said, that the Hirsch syndicate, one of the largest financial institutions in the old world, became interested in the idea.

General Plan Indorsed.

When Messrs. Sully and Dalgleish were in Atlanta less than two weeks ago, it will be remembered, their plan was brought to the attention of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. The directors of this body took the matter under consideration and went on record as believing that the successful carrying out of such a plan would not only be of great benefit in assisting the south to finance the cotton crop, but would be entirely feasible, at least so far as Atlanta is concerned.

Mr. Sully's plan is to establish a chain of bonded cotton warehouses throughout the south, place them in charge of bonded keepers, and have negotiable certificates issued on all cotton stored in the houses. These certificates, it is planned, shall be of unquestioned value, and will be sufficient collateral for a loan of their face value, minus the interest, in any part of the civilized world.

A fund of $2,500,000 is to be placed in the hands of the trustees of the General Cotton Securities Company by the Hirsch syndicate, to guarantee not only the safety, but the weight and grade of every bale of cotton placed in one of the warehouses. The warehouse company will make an initial charge of 25 cents per bale for storage, and, after the first month, a percentage charge. The cotton will be insured by the company.

The scheme differs from that used in the marketing of wheat or oil, in that a guarantee fund is behind the proposition, and there will be rigid inspections by warehouse keepers and traveling inspectors not subject to local influences.

Will Promote Trade.

The company will not be a cotton selling concern. It proposes to promote rather than restrict trade. It is proposed to adopt the Egyptian bale, to compress at the point of ginning, and to effect other economies. It is claimed that when the project has been got fully into working order more than $50,000,000 annually will be saved to the south by the new method.

It is proposed that the General Cotton Securities Company begin operations with $5,000,000, which amount will be increased 100 per cent as the business grows, and will continue to increase as long as the business demands it. At the meeting in Boston, at which the plans for the project were perfected, it was admitted that no accurate idea can now be obtained as to how much money will be needed eventually to carry through the plan, but both American and European capitalists are said to have expressed their willingness to back the scheme to an almost unlimited amount.

While in the city, Mr. Sully stated that it was his idea to erect warehouses in the most important cities in the south before attempting to do anything in the smaller places. Where suitable warehouses can be found, they will be leased; but in other cases the company will build its own houses. Mr. Sully stated that he had settled upon Atlanta as one of the cities in which to establish a warehouse.

GOV. HARMON WORKS TO SETTLE THE STRIKE

But So Far His Efforts Have Been Unsuccessful.

Columbus, Ohio, August 2.—Governor Harmon worked all day toward bringing about peace in the street car strike. Late this afternoon he succeeded in getting officials of the Columbus Railway and Light Company, the president and leaders of the union, Major General Dick and others in his offices for a conference, but it was brought to a fruitless end when the company objected to the presence of the union's national organizer, Fred Fay. The conference will be resumed tomorrow with Fay absent.

A proposal made today that the governor be accepted as sole arbitrator was rejected by both sides.

Cars were operated throughout the city today and tonight without any marked violence.

More Publicity for Bryan.
(From Leslie's.)

If the prohibition party does not give Bryan the nomination for the presidency in 1912, it will not be Bryan's fault. His announcement that in the coming campaign in Nebraska he will seek "to divorce the democratic party from the liquor interests through the medium of county option" is significant. It means that the democratic party, which in the past has been so largely controlled by the liquor element, will have no further use for Bryan. If the prohibition party will take him up, it will find in his popularity and winning eloquence its strongest attraction. We never believed that Bryan cared so much for the presidency as he did for the publicity that enabled him, through his lectures and writing, to become independently wealthy. If the prohibition party will give him the presidential nomination, his income as a writer and lecturer will not be interfered with. It is only fair that in return for his support the prohibitionists should give him the opportunity he seeks to add to his wealth.

JUDGES' SALARIES BILL IS PASSED

Counties May Supplement Superior Court Pay.

Compulsory Education Bill Killed for Session by Action of House in Refusing to Make It Special Order---Succession to Governor Provided.

TUESDAY IN THE HOUSE.

Passed the bill authorizing the counties of Fulton, Chatham and Richmond to supplement the salaries paid to judges of the superior courts.

Defeated the report of the rules committee setting the compulsory education bill as a special order.

Passed the bill providing for the succession to the governor's office in case it becomes vacant.

Defeated the bill abolishing the office of solicitor general and creating the office of county prosecuting attorney.

The governor's signature is all that is necessary to authorize the counties of Fulton, Chatham and Richmond to supplement the salaries paid by the state to the judges of the superior courts in those counties.

By the vote of 142 to 14, and in spite of the vehement opposition of the gentleman from Bibb, Mr. Hall, the house of representatives yesterday passed the bill authorizing the three counties to add $2,000 per annum to the salary which the state pays to each of the judges of the superior court in those counties.

Mr. Hall opposed the bill on the ground that he would not stand for saddling upon the people of any county a salary requirement on which they had not voted and upon which they could not vote.

Mr. Anderson, of Chatham, told him in reply that, speaking for himself, he represented his own county and knew what it wanted. Mr. Pierce, representing Richmond, and Mr. McElreath, representing Fulton, delivered themselves to practically the same effect and the bill went through in a hurry.

Education Bill Killed.

By declaring to agree with the recommendation of the rules committee setting the compulsory education bill as a special order for consideration, the house put the kibosh on compulsory education in so far as the present session of the general assembly is concerned.

The vote on the report of the rules committee was 85 ayes to 62 nays. Since it required a three-fourths vote of those voting the report was lost by 25 votes. There is no possible chance of the bill passing the house at this session.

There was no opposition to the bill by Mr. Hall, of Bibb, providing the manner of succession to the governor's office in case it becomes vacant before a new general assembly is organized, and the measure passed with 142 votes to its credit.

It provided that should the governor's office become vacant before a new assembly is organized the secretary of state shall succeed to the office, and should his office be vacant, then the comptroller general shall become governor.

The bill of Mr. Faircloth, of Johnson, abolishing the office of solicitor general and creating in lieu thereof the office of county prosecuting attorney, failed because it did not receive the 123 votes necessary to pass a constitutional amendment. It received 84 votes to 58 against.

Mr. Boyd of Spalding, Mr. Allen of Upson, Mr. Lewis of Hancock and Mr. Faircloth urged the passage of the bill, while Mr. Davis, of Dougherty, and others spoke against it.

The question of whether or not the senate bill abolishing the office of county treasurer should be read the second time created considerable argument on account of the opposition to it, but it was finally read.

Bills Passed by House.

Other bills passed in the house were as follows:

By Mr. Drawdy of Clinch—To amend the code relative to the payment of witness fees.

By Messrs. Simpson and McConnell of Gwinnett—To authorize Gwinnett county to issue bonds.

By Mr. Armistead of Oglethorpe—To amend the act amending the charter of Lexington.

By Mr. White of Screven—To amend the act of fixing the term of office of the prison commissioner.

$152,331 VOTED BY THE SENATE

13 Special Appropriation Bills Passed.

$30,000 Given for Completion and Maintenance of Sanitarium at Alto, and $10,000 to Wage War on Black Root. Local Bills Disposed Of.

TUESDAY IN THE SENATE.

Passed special appropriation bills aggregating $152,331.

Turned down North Georgia Agricultural College request for new building plans.

Passed two score of local bills.

Attended President Slaton's barbecue.

The senate, in a four-hour session yesterday, disposed of a half-hundred local bills and gave consideration to 13 special appropriation bills carrying a total sum of $152,331.25.

The most important of the bills passed were those providing $30,000 for the completion and maintenance of the state sanitarium at Alto; $60,000 for supplying the deficit in the maintenance fund of the state sanitarium for the years 1910 and 1911, and $10,000 to continue experiments in growing wilt resistant cotton so as to exterminate black root.

At 1:40 the senate held a brief executive session and then adjourned to attend the barbecue given at the Cold Springs Cue Club, by President Slaton.

Reports Are Received.

When the senate met Mr. Burwell secured unanimous consent for 20 minutes to be given to receiving reports of committees.

Senator Gordy moved that the senate hold afternoon sessions. On this Senator McCurry called the ayes and nays. Senator Price moved the reference of the matter to the rules committee.

Mr. Calhoun moved the reading of the governor's message on the condition of the state treasury, following the disposition of local bills.

When all local bills on the clerk's desk had been disposed of the president ordered the message read. Senator Burwell asked that it might go over and the special appropriations bills be considered. Mr. Gordy objected, suggesting that the message on the treasury would be most timely.

The following special appropriation bills were passed, Senator Burwell having them in charge:

By Mr. Reid, of Campbell: To pay assistant state librarians $281.25, being amounts past due on salary account.

By Mr. Vinson, of Baldwin: To appropriate $15,000 for the erection of a tuberculosis hospital at the state sanitarium.

By Mr. Vinson, of Baldwin: To appropriate $35,000 for a new building for the Georgia Normal and Industrial College.

By Mr. Vinson, of Baldwin: To appropriate $25,000 for 1910 and $35,000 for 1911 to supply deficit in maintenance fund of the state sanitarium at Milledgeville.

The resolution of Mr. McMichael, of Butts, authorizing the governor to direct part of the funds received from the Indian Springs reservation to the payment of the keeper of the public comfort building and to the upkeep of the building, precipitated a debate that at times seriously affected the dignity of senators. The resolution was finally passed.

Sanitarium Given Aid.

In support of the appropriation of $30,000 to complete and equip the state sanitarium for tuberculosis at Alto, strong speeches were made by Senators Slaton, Longley and Johnson. The bill was passed.

A resolution authorizing the board of trustees of the North Georgia Agricultural college to have prepared plans for a new building on the campus, Senator Price proposed to amend by providing $5,000 for books for the State Normal school at Athens. The point was made that all appropriation bills must originate in the house. The point was sustained.

The argument was made that if this resolution was passed the next step would be to have the money appropriated to erect the building. The senate voted down the resolution.

An appropriation of $10,000 to permit the entomologist of the department of agriculture to continue experiments looking to the extermination of black root or wilt disease of cotton, was next considered.

An amendment was offered providing that any farmer who received any of the wilt resistant cotton from the state should be required to sell his "surplus" crop of this seed within the state. Senator Burwell opposed the amendment as unreasonable, futile and worthless, saying it was an attempt to legislate the price of a future crop of cotton. Senator Mathews spoke in favor of it. The amendment was lost by a vote of 7 to 31.

Bills Are Passed.

The senate next passed the following bills:

To appropriate $2,000 to improve the confederate cemetery at Marietta.

To appropriate $1,500 for completing the establishment and for the improvement of the confederate cemetery at Resaca.

To appropriate $2,500 toward the erection of a monument to General Joseph E. Johnston at Dalton.

To refund to J. R. Hubbard, of Dawson, $50, deposited with the secretary of state to secure bank charter.

To appropriate $1,200 to cover year's salary of state bank examiner.

The bill was then passed by a vote of 41 to 0.

The senate paused in the consideration of appropriation bills long enough to adopt a resolution extending the session to 1:55.

The Slaton-Morris-Slater bill was received back from the house, and the senate voted to concur in a slight amendment. This bill proposes constitutional amendment to permit individual counties to supplement from their county treasuries the salaries of judges of the superior court.

To refund to H. Yarbrough, of Gordon, the sum of $42.79 to cover money paid for wild lands at public sale, which legal sale was later revoked and judgment canceled.

To reimburse the state public building fund in the sum of $11,863 for repairs to the capitol and $5,000 for insurance premiums on state buildings.

Local Bills Passed.

The senate also passed the following local bills:

To amend act creating city court of Baxley.

To amend charter of Lexington.

QUICK ACTION ON PLAZA BILL

Backers of Movement Oppose Any Delay.

At Meeting of Western and Atlantic Committee, Committee Is Named to Work Out With Alex Smith a Substitute Bill to Cover Minor Details.

Every effort to secure the immediate action of the present legislature on the proposition to build a plaza over the tracks of the Western and Atlantic railroad will be made by those who are supporting the movement. Unless forced to it by circumstances, they will not consent to delay.

At a meeting of the house committee on the Western and Atlantic railroad yesterday afternoon Mr. Alexander, of DeKalb, expressed the opinion that it would perhaps be better to go slow in the matter in order that members of the legislature may become thoroughly acquainted with the details of the plan to build the plaza. In view of the fact that the present session is drawing to a close and that both houses are crowded with business he thought probably it would be wise not to force the proposition before the general assembly until all the details are worked out.

Other members of the committee thoroughly agreed with Mr. Alexander, but they held the opinion that the details of the proposition can be solved at once, and in such a manner as will prove satisfactory to all parties concerned. Mr. Alexander then intimated that if such is the case, he is perfectly willing to have the proposition brought to the attention of the legislature as early as possible.

In order that several minor details of the proposed plan may be worked out satisfactorily Mr. McElreath, of Fulton, moved that Chairman Alexander appoint a committee of four, with Mr. Alexander as a member, to confer with Attorney Alex W. Smith in drafting another plaza bill which will meet with the approval of the committee. Mr. Smith drew up the present plaza bill which the committee has under consideration, and represented the city of Atlanta at the meeting held Tuesday afternoon.

The committee appointed by the chairman was as follows: Mr. McElreath, of Fulton; Mr. Brinson, of Decatur, and Mr. Ault, of Polk. This committee, after conferring with Attorney Smith, will report to the Western and Atlantic committee at another meeting to be held this afternoon.

Every member of the committee present at the meeting Tuesday afternoon appeared to favor the proposed plaza, and it is evident that as soon as the details of the plan can be agreed upon the majority of the committee, at least, will be prepared to back the proposition when it is presented to the house.

Few Alcohol Prescriptions.

Athens, Ga., August 2.—(Special.)—Exactly 50 alcohol prescriptions were filed in July in the office of the ordinary of Clarke county—less than half the number filed in some of the months of last winter. An unusual feature of of the record of prescriptions for the past month was that exactly half of the total number were written for women. Usually out of from 75 to more than 100 prescriptions, perhaps there will be half a dozen at most for women.

We Won't Sell "Uno" Coffee in Bulk. Why?

We've had grocers to urge us to sell it to 'em that way because they frankly say they can retail it as easily at 40 cents as at 25 cents.

We put up "Uno" in pound (16 oz.) tins, labeled 25 cents.

We've purposely made it the best blend, the most delicious and satisfying cup, the cleanest, finest coffee possible for the price.

We're pushing it as a 25-cent coffee and it's simply immense for a quarter.

We're not a-going to sell it in bulk and have it retailed for more, altho we know it's a lot better coffee than many of the higher-priced goods.

Everybody likes "Uno." You'll make a hit with it.

Death of Mrs. Payne.

Macon, Ga., August 2.—(Special.)—News of the death of Mrs. Emily H. Payne at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Carnes, in Memphis, yesterday, reached Macon today. Mrs. Payne was until a few years ago a resident of Macon, and was the widow of the late Dr. George Payne, who conducted a drug business forty years at the corner of Cotton avenue and Mulberry street, in Macon. She was born in 1822, on the Crawford county plantation of her father, Frederick Sims, who was one of the first settlers of this city. Mrs. W. W. Carnes, of Memphis; W. S. Payne, of Montgomery, and Dr. George F. Payne, of Atlanta, formerly state chemist, are the three children surviving her. The funeral will be conducted at Christ Episcopal church here tomorrow afternoon by the rector, Rev. John L. Bunting. The remains will be laid to rest in the family lot in Rose Hill cemetery.

Voters, on last Thursday night, in a secret session in the Kimball House, a mere handful of men, who control this district and the will of the people, listened to Col. Livingston state that if they did not do something, he was a defeated man. Correct you are, Colonel. You were gone then, are gone now, and will be gone on August 23.

Farmers' Union Meeting.

Jackson, Ga., August 2.—(Special.)—The Farmers' Union will have two barbecues and educational meetings in Butts county this week. The first meeting will be held at Cork Wednesday, when Cork local No. 1306 will give a barbecue. Those in charge of the plans expect at least 800 people to be present. Hon. Harvie Jordan has been invited to address the people at that time. Judge John P. Ross will also speak in behalf of his candidacy for congress, though it is understood his address will have nothing to do with the meeting.

The county union will meet at Stark on Friday and again a barbecue will be served and a much larger crowd will be in evidence.

NO MORE "SHACKS" IN ATLANTA PARKS

The Park Commission Determines to Have Good Buildings or None.

The park board agreed at a meeting yesterday afternoon, voicing the sentiment expressed by President George F. Eubanks, that hereafter there will be no more "shacks" built in the parks in the way of public comfort buildings and this will probably cause a further hitch in the erection of a building at Piedmont park.

The mayor and general council appropriated $4,500 for a public comfort building at Piedmont park, and plans were advertised for, and it was expressly stated that the building should be of a permanent nature. The lowest bid was for something over $11,000. The park commission decided to adopt a plan which called for a good and permanent building, and decided to spend the money appropriated as far as it would go, and then ask council for an additional sum. No more money was given, and when the park commission met Tuesday afternoon President Eubanks said:

"We are not going to put up any cheap building. At Grant park the cyclorama building is about to tumble down; the public comfort building is worthless and other buildings must soon be replaced. The time has come for Atlanta to put up good park buildings or none at all."

A resolution was adopted referring the Piedmont park building to the general manager and the architect, with instructions to report at the next meeting exactly what could be done with $4,500, in order that foundations for a permanent building might be erected.

The National Press Club at Washington

(Robert D. Hein, in Leslie's.)

Every little while the Washington date line is identified with the doings of a comparatively new and unique organization, the National Press Club. It has become a rendezvous for men of public life. After a trifle more than two years of existence, the club is recognized as a sort of newspaper salon, in the best sense of that term. It is not strait-laced, neither is it bohemian. The organization is conducted on sane and sensible lines and comprises a center for newspaper workers and for those men who shape the intellectual activities of the continent. The president occasionally drops in. One afternoon, following a long walk into the country, Mr. Taft came in rough attire which presidents affect when they tramp into Maryland or Virginia for exercise and forgetfulness of office cares. Speaker Cannon, Champ Clark, Dr. Harvey W. Wiley and Gifford Pinchot were among the speakers one night when each man told of his hobby. Cabinet officials come with tolerable frequency.

ARNOLD IS ASKED TO AID IN PROBE

Georgia Libbey Circle Determined to Push Investigation.

J. H. Dodgen, one of the attorneys for the Georgia Libbey Circle of King's Daughters, which is engaged in pushing an investigation against Mrs. S. J. Purtell, leader of the Gordon circle and manager of the Home for Old Women, stated yesterday that his clients had authorized him to ask Reuben R. Arnold to take up the case as associate attorney; and that the matter had been laid before Mr. Arnold.

He has not accepted the case, but asked that all facts pertaining to the disagreement between the two circles be placed before him, and he will decide later as to whether he will take up the prosecution.

For the time being things remain in status quo between the two circles; no definite action will be taken until the next meeting, which is set for Tuesday.

Expresses Thanks.

The following statement was furnished by Mrs. Purtell:

"Please allow me, through The Constitution, to express my thanks and sincerest appreciation for the many letters and telephone calls from personal friends and from the friends of the Home for Old Women, 61 West End avenue, received during the past two weeks; also to the friends who have sent gifts and donations to the institution. These will be duly acknowledged by the Gordon circle. Respectfully,

"MRS. SARAH J. PURTELL,
"60 East Alexander Street."

Knew Nothing of It.

The Constitution has also been requested to publish the following card:

"To the General Public: In justice to Mrs. A. Y. Whitman, Georgia Libbey Circle investigation committee wishes to correct statements in the public press to the effect that she was the instigator of the investigation of the Old Woman's Home. Emphatically, she knew nothing of the matter until the Georgia Libbey Circle of King's Daughters had well under way this probe; she then very kindly offered what knowledge she had of the condition, which was accepted by this committee.

OFFICER IS SHOT BY DESPERATE NEGRO

Fusillade of Shots at Negro House in Macon.

Patrol Officer Frank Christian Twice Shot by Negro---The Negro Escaped During the Fusillade.

Brown House, Macon, Ga., August 2. (Special.)—In a fusillade of shots at a negro house in Tybee at 3 o'clock this morning Patrol Officer Frank Christian was twice hit, and severely, though not fatally, injured by a negro named Williams that four men went to arrest. The negro escaped and the officer was taken to the city hospital, where he will recover if no complications set in.

Constable Barclay, with a farmer named Williams, who came in from the country, went early to the place to make the arrest. They wanted the negro for alleged arson, the charge being preferred on account of the burning of a house on the Williams plantation. Williams and Barclay found Patrolmen Christian and D. W. McCoy on their beats in the section and asked their aid. When the house was surrounded, Christian and Williams knocked at the front door. They were met with a drawn revolver in the hands of the negro they wanted. When Christian knocked the negro down he fired rapidly from the floor. One shot glanced the officer's right side. Another imbedded itself deeply in the left shoulder. As the negro ran out in the desperate fight he was fired on by both McCoy and Barclay, but he kept up his run and escaped despite their efforts to stop him. He is still at large.

WASHINGTON STATUE PRESENTED TO FRANCE

Virginia Sends Bronze Copy of Houdon's Work to Paris.

New York, August 2.—The commission appointed at the last session of the general assembly of Virginia to present to the Republic of France a bronze copy of Houdon's statue of George Washington, will sail tomorrow on the Caronia. The commission consists of Colonel James Mann, chairman; State Senator Don P. Halsey and State Senator F. W. King.

Houdon came to America in 1786, spent two weeks as Washington's guest at Mount Vernon and made a mould of his face. He returned to France, and the statue was made in Paris of marble. It was brought to America and has since reposed in the capitol at Richmond.

About two years ago the state of Virginia had a bronze copy made for the Hall of Fame at Washington. It was so satisfactory that the general assembly decided to present a second copy to France. There it will be placed in the palace at Versailles, where, in 1785, the treaty of peace between Great Britain and the United States was signed.

BRIGADES OF PYTHIANS MARCHED IN PARADE

Grand Procession of the Uniform Rank Through Milwaukee Streets.

Milwaukee, Wis., August 2.—Twenty brigades of Knights of Pythias today paraded the principal streets, the feature of the second day of the grand encampment of the uniform rank.

Major General Arthur J. Stobbart was in command. The marching lines extended from the extreme western part of the city well up into the east side.

The morning program opened with the public ceremonies of welcome to the supreme representatives of the convention when Mayor Seidel delivered an address in the auditorium. The convention then went into executive session for the purpose of convening the supreme lodge.

The Pythian sisters convened in the Plankinton hotel with welcoming ceremonies, the supreme temple also having a morning session.

Tonight a Pythian reception for the supreme lodge, the supreme temple of the Sisters and all members was given at White Fish bay.

Tomorrow there will be competitive drills and another big parade made up of subordinate lodges and the Pythian sisters.

A Satisfying Food

Appetite is Nature's signal for fuel and repairs.

Healthy appetite calls for the simple food elements that supply the natural requirements.

Healthy appetite is satisfied when the proper kind and amount of food is taken into the body at stated intervals. But the wiles of the modern chef and caterer have created in most of us a false and often unnatural appetite which leads into all the different degrees of indigestion, dyspepsia, etc.—food insanity.

Grape-Nuts

is a satisfying food—it is composed of the natural elements to satisfy the natural appetite and restore order in the digestive machinery which may have been thrown out of gear by improper though often "fashionable" foods.

The crisp, firm, "nutty" granules of Grape-Nuts make honest mastication necessary. Its wholesome flavour makes it appetizing, and the albumens, carbohydrates and Potassium Phosphate from the whole wheat and barley, makes it a satisfying food—both to the sense of taste and to the body needs.

Ten days' trial will convince any one that

WOMEN WITHDRAW GEORGIA EXHIBIT

Time to Make Arrangements Found Insufficient

Georgia Exposition Committee Will Maintain Organization and Will Continue Interests in Exposition Work---Mrs. Lowry Explains Withdrawal.

At a meeting of the Georgia committee of the Appalachian Exposition held yesterday in the rooms of the chairman of the committee, Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, it was decided by the ladies actively engaged in arranging the Georgia exhibit that it would be impossible in the length of time between now and the opening of the exposition, September 12, to carry out their plans.

Among the ladies present who are chairmen of Mrs. Lowry's subcommittees were Mrs. Fanny Lowry Porter, chairman of domestic science; Mrs. E. H. Barnes, vice chairman; Mrs. Julian Harris, vice chairman of arts and crafts; Mrs. H. E. Stockbridge, chairman of agriculture; Mrs. John Meek, chairman of music; Mrs. McGovern, Mrs. J. G. Oglesby, Mrs. Estelle Garrett Baker and others. The reports read by the various committees indicated the wide scope of the work planned and the interest the proposed exhibit had centered in it, but the business and arrangement incident to such an exhibit was more than the ladies felt could be creditably carried through in the time left them.

While withdrawing their promise for the proposed exhibit, the Georgia committee remains as an organization and will continue their interest in the exposition work which will be initiated at the first of the series of expositions planned for this fall and to continue ten years.

Mrs. Lowry Talks.

When asked about the decision of the Georgia committee to withdraw their promise of an exhibit to the woman's department of the Appalachian Exposition Mrs. Lowry explained that her committee far from giving up their interest in the project of their Knoxville sisters, proposed to more fully organize their force and to draw into it representative women from all parts of the state.

"This would insure Georgia's exhibit in 1911 being one which would not only be worthy of Georgia, but one which would materially aid the women of the states of the Appalachian districts in bringing out the work of women under the heads of arts and crafts, agriculture and domestic science," said Mrs. Lowry.

Work to Continue.

"The splendid movement now on foot and being pushed by our Georgia women in the direction of conservation—that for the purpose of obtaining for the women who need it in town and country, a better training in domestic science, in arts and crafts and woman's part of agriculture—will further unite the interest of our women under these heads, and to collect an exhibit truly representative of woman's achievement in Georgia will come as an easy expression of this work the coming year.

Lack of Time.

"To obtain such an exhibit this year we found almost impossible. It was not until early July that our committee, acting on an invitation from Mrs. Herbert Hall, president of the woman's department, Appalachian exposition, organized for the purpose of trying to get a creditable exhibit from Georgia. The schools from which we had hoped to draw exhibits of arts and crafts had closed for the summer, but Mrs. M. A. Lipscomb graciously volunteered to arrange an exhibit from the Georgia Federation Industrial school for mountain children at Tallulah Falls, and Miss Martha Berry wrote offering an exhibit from the Berry school near Rome, Ga.

"Women from all parts of the state began communicating with my chairmen about exhibiting their wares, and we found the movement, as a whole, called for more time than we had between now and the exposition for proper development, and more organization than it was possible to bring about in order to give all the women who wished a chance to participate.

"The more we worked in the movement the more we felt the significance of it, and the desire to have a creditable exhibit possessed us.

"But when, at this morning's meeting, we realized the work which lay before us still, the short time there was to do it in, and that our force was limited in number, we decided we could not accomplish what we hoped to do this year."

In entering the race for Recorder, he desires to say:

1. Valid ordinances of the city are as binding as State and Federal laws, and should be enforced or repealed.

2. In a court where there is no trial by jury the "presumption of innocence" should be overcome by a fair and impartial hearing.

3. The dignity of the Recorder's Court should be upheld and penalties imposed commensuiate with the offenses proven, and not for purposes of revenue; nor should the fact that "a case has been made" be the occasion for heaping indignities upon the accused.

NO MORE SHALL BABIES RIDE IN LAPS OF FOND PARENTS

New Orleans, August 2.—The bouncing of babies on the knees of fond parents may be tabooed in view of pathologic discoveries, according to Dr. S. W. Stafford, surgeon of the Charity Hospital at New Orleans. This statement was made in connection with reports that interior poliomyelitis, a newly-discovered infant malady, commonly known as infantile paralysis, is causing many deaths.

Several such cases are now being treated in local hospitals. Dr. Stafford said that an injury to the spinal cord was most likely to result in the ailment and that the "bouncing" of babies could very easily produce such an injury.

REVENUE CUTTER PERRY WRECKED ON ISLAND

No Lives Were Lost, but the Cutter Is a Total Loss.

Washington, August 2.—The revenue cutter Perry, one of the smallest, but the oldest of the fleet of that service, ran ashore on July 26 at Tonki Point, on the east side of St. Paul Island, one of the Priboloff group in the Bering sea, and is a total loss.

Captain Foley visited the wreck and ordered her stripped and abandoned. There were no lives lost. The Perry was commanded by Captain Haake and carried fifty officers and men.

The scene of the wreck is an extremely dangerous locality, as a reef projects about 150 miles off shore.

COL. PRINCE ORDERED TO THE PHILIPPINES

His Request to Be Retired Denied by the Navy Department.

Washington, August 2.—Another chapter in the shake-up of the headquarters' staff of the marine corps took place today, when Acting Secretary Winthrop, of the navy department, refused to grant the request of Lieutenant Colonel Thomas C. Prince for the appointment of a board to examine him for retirement.

Instead, Prince will leave Washington tomorrow for a tour of duty in the Philippines, an assignment that he claimed would prove detrimental to his health. It is believed President Taft will approve the action of the department.

Prince was an assistant quartermaster at headquarters. He was recently reprimanded, along with others, as the result of findings of a court of inquiry that insubordination existed at marine headquarters.

LOOKOUTS' FINAL APPEARANCE TODAY

Edited By DICK JEMISON

CRACKERS BUNCH HITS ON GRAHAM

This Wins Game From Lookouts 3 to 2.

Sid Smith's Batting and Berkel's Fielding Were Features. Johns in Several Tight Holes, but Worked Out, Aided by Fine Fielding.

By bunching five of their nine hits in the first two innings, the Crackers copped yesterday's game from the Lookouts by the score of 3 to 2, thus making the score between the teams stand one and one for the series and eight and eight for the season.

Bill Graham essayed to do the hurling for the Lookouts, and after those first two rounds he twirled nice ball, but in these two he gave up enough hits, mixed in with some poor support, to beat him.

Harold Johns had the Lookouts well in hand for the first few rounds, but in the fifth inning he was not so good, while in some of the other closing stanzas he worked out of some mighty tight places, aided by good fielding on the part of the Crackers.

SMITH AND BERKEL.

Sid Smith and John Berkel were the stars from an Atlanta standpoint, the big receiver catching a fine game and likewise hitting in his accustomed form. He stepped up to the plate four times, walked once and pasted out three hits, one of them a three-sacker. Sid certainly looks great when he is going that way.

That Berkel youngster was right there with the pepper and the sensational fielding. All that has been said of him before he came here is true. The way he fielded his position was great. In the fourth he made a peach of a stop and throw of Lister's hit. In the fifth, he went two feet in the air after Yerkes' bouncer and forced a man at second. In the eighth he scooped one up and started a pretty double play; in the second he fired McLaurin out at the plate, and, to cap it all, he scooped up one with one hand on McMahon in the ninth that was worth the price of admission. And don't overlook that three-sacker that he pasted between Collins and McLaurin in the second. That was some drive, too. Keep it up, Johnny; you sure look good to us.

Higgins, Graham and Moran also got two hits. The way the Crackers ran bases and sacrificed was also pleasing to look at. And their fielding was superb, despite the four errors that are chalked up against them.

CRACKERS SCORE.

In the first, Moran led off with a sizzler to left. Jordan sacrificed, but McMahon fumbled the ball. Moran tried to go to third, but Graham covered and tagged him out on McMahon's throw. Jordan swiped second and went to third when Higgins threw bad. Sid then pounded out a triple, scoring the captain.

In the second, Bayless hit safe and was sacrificed to second by Walker. Berkel then pounded out his triple, scoring Bayless. Moran's single to right scored Berkel.

Higgins beat out a bunt in the fifth. Graham singled to center, Higgins going to third. McMahon singled and Higgins scored. Johnston sacrificed both the men up a pack, but when Yerkes hit to Walker, Scotty made a pretty peg to the plate and Sid neatly blocked Graham.

Johnson robbed Berkel of a hit in the sixth, when he made a pretty running catch of his fly.

In the eighth, McLaurin tripled to center and Collins was safe on Walker's error. Lister hit to Berkel and a double play resulted, McLaurin scoring.

This ended the run getting for both sides, though the Crackers threatened in the ninth. The final game of the series will be played today, and the game will also mark the final appearance of the Lookouts at Ponce de Leon this season.

John Griffin will hurl for the Crackers and Demaree will probably be on the mound for the Lookouts. John says that he can beat the Lookouts, this being Griffin's first try against them.

CONAHAN'S VOICE GOT MIXED UP

This Was Cause for Bad Decision in Birmingham.

A few days ago the sporting editor took occasion to call down Umpire Conahan for his work in the Birmingham-Atlanta series in Birmingham. He made some statements in this article which were rather strong, and which caused a howl from the Birmingham papers.

Their howl was just. In so far as the reference to any player on the Birmingham team is concerned, that is, in the nature of a "frame-up" with the umps, as implicated in this article, the writer retracts that much, but for the part of the statement that Conahan was away off on his decisions, that stands, no matter who cares to doubt it.

With Bayless at the bat in one inning, the Birmingham pitcher hurled one cap high. Conahan promptly called it a strike. Bayless turned to Conahan and laughed. Conahan spoke to Bayless as follows: "That's one I missed on you, Dick. I had 'strike' in my throat when the ball was coming up and I just could not say ball."

"How's that for a great one for you? That's the best one ever, and it explains probably how Atlanta lost a couple of games. Conahan got his voice mixed up and could not say what he wanted to say. Atlanta suffered thereby, and will have to take her medicine, but it was certainly the limit.

No doubt when McBride was walked, forcing in one run in one game, and McGilvray walked and forced in one run in another game, Conahan meant to say "strike," but called it a "ball." At least that is the only explanation we have to offer now.

The reference in the former article, practically accusing the Birmingham team of connivance with his umps in the matter is withdrawn, and all the blame placed on Conahan for his mixing of his vocal faculties. That's too good; have a laugh on us. Ha! ha! ha!

As to the Birmingham player mentioned in the article, Bill McGilvray, if he is as honest as he has proven in the past, will state just as he did to Manager Jordan, that if two of the balls had been called strikes on him he would not have kicked in the least. That's pretty plain evidence that Conahan was off on balls and strikes.

Listen at this one. When Jordan asked him if he knew what a balk was, he said: "Sometimes I do." Now, imagine that from a man that is paid to know. That shows really what kind of an umpire he is.

On another occasion he drew a line and dared Jordan to cross it. If the manager hasn't any right to kick, who has?

In closing, be it known that the Birmingham team and players are ellmiated from all implication in the matter, and Conahan given the benefit of the doubt. He probably did not mean to do wrong, but he did, that's all. But it does look strange that he belongs to the Birmingham lodge of Eagles.

WHITE CAPS END SEASON WITH DOUBLE-HEADER

The Anderson Hardware Company's White Caps will tackle the strong Beck & Gregg team next Saturday at Poplar Springs in a double-header, the first game being called at 2:30 sharp. The White Caps have played good ball all the season, but before entering the City League the other teams secured 10 of their players, therefore weakening them, but other players were secured and they have made a game fight, going in the league, after the Piedmont team had dropped out, with four games to the bad with a percentage of .000, but continue to climb up and will show up with a strong aggregation Sturds to face the fast Beck & Gregg bunch, who stand in third place.

Manager Weatherly, of the White Caps, will use the following line-up and will use his star twirler in the box both games. Parker, 3b., Donaldson, s.s; Watts, 2b.; Pinkston, 1b.; Mayfield, c.f.; Peeples, l. f.; Southard, r. f.; Eddleman, c.; Chewnings, p.

Manager Grist, of the Beck & Gregg, will possibly use this strong line-up: Grist, 1b.; Marston, c. f.; Nash, s.s; Warhoo, c.; Hardeman, c. f. and c.; Hilton, r. f.; Medlock, 3b.; Adams, 2b.; Almand, l. f.; Baxter, p.

DOUBLE-CROSS GIVEN ATLANTA

Barr Deal Was a "Frame-Up" From the Start of It.

Atlanta was certainly given the double-cross when she tried to get Hyder Barr. However, it must be stated that Atlanta did not try to get him first, the offer of the services of the player being made voluntarily by Manager Charley Frank.

Frank offered Barr to President Heisman and told him to go to Mobile and fix up the deal, at the same time stating that as Wagner was injured he would have to wait until the latter got well before he could get Barr.

Dr. Inge informed Mr. Heisman upon his arrival in Mobile that Wagner would get in the game shortly and he would try to fix it. How he fixed it is known. We haven't got Barr yet, and we never will get him.

Dr. Inge is not to be blamed, either. President Heisman or Manager Jordan have not expressed their real views in the matter, saying they did not care to do it, but as a hunch, here is how it looks.

Frank promised to give Barr to Atlanta, to make them believe that he was friendly with them. Then while President Heisman was en route to Mobile, he got in touch with Mobile and told them not to let Atlanta have the player under any conditions. This is just a guess at the real facts in the case, but we will bet a dollar bill to a hole in a doughnut that we have hit the nail on the head. Wait and see.

MANGUM WRITES ABOUT SALLY ROW

Macon Sporting Editor Denies He Was Cause of Trouble.

Frank Mangum, sporting editor of The Macon News, makes the following statement in reference to a recent publication on the sporting page of The Constitution:

"I was erroneously and unjustifiably charged with having been 'the cause of the trouble' in the affair here which resulted in Dominick Mullaney and six other Jacksonville players being banished from the South Atlantic League and the former blacklisted for all time. The facts are these:

"I criticised Mullaney in The Macon News for his professional conduct on the ball field, conduct which the recorder of the city of Macon held to be indecent, disorderly and offensive to public morals, and which prompted President Joyner in suspending Mullaney for the remainder of the season, and his own employers, the Jacksonville club, in blacklisting him.

"Resentment of this justifiable and necessary criticism in a manner that was a violation of state and baseball laws brought on Mullaney's arrest on the ball field, the arrest being ordered by Mayor John T. Moore, unsolicited by me. Why, then, should I have been denounced for having criticised a player's disgraceful conduct and his actions condoned?

"But that is a small matter. It was deliberately stated that I once broke faith with the directors of the South Atlantic League and published facts which I solemnly promised to withhold. That is absolutely, maliciously false. At the 1909 February meeting of the league, the newspaper men were admitted on condition they would withhold any story to which the directors objected. Then came the defeat of President Boyer for reelection. Immediately I addressed the directors, told them that I would, as a matter of necessity and in justice to my paper and the public, have to publish that fact, and would, therefore, leave the meeting, which I did at once, and voluntarily. Thirty minutes later, by unanimous vote of the directors, I was invited back and reinstated, and, together with all other newspaper men, given full permission to publish all of the proceedings of the meeting. That is a part of the league record, in the minutes of the meeting.

"The idea that I ever entertained aspirations for the presidency of the league is preposterous and laughable, and originated in a too fertile imagination."

Everybody says Schley Howard will be the next congressman from the Fifth.

PRIMO CO. SECURES TEMPORARY FACTORY

The Primo Motor Company, with offices at 406-7-8 Forsyth Building, this city, have just closed negotiations which give them possession of a temporary factory site conveniently located on the tracks of the Georgia Railroad near the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills.

This site is admirably adapted to the needs of this new automobile manufacturing concern, being of three floors in height and containing 15,000 feet of floor space.

The company is now installing its special machinery for the manufacture of the various parts that go to make up the complete car, the first model of which they expect to have on the streets of Atlanta within two weeks.

The Primo Motor Company was only organized on May 7, since which time they have placed practically all of their issue of $200,000 in stock, as well as contracting with agencies throughout the south for more than one-half of their first year's product of cars. The indications are that this will prove the most progressive industry in the city of Atlanta, if not in the entire south. The officers of the company are well-known business men, having a special fitness to carry on the business of the Primo Motor Company to a successful career.

A very attractive illustrated advance bulletin is now being issued by the company, which conveys an intelligent idea of the various models that the company will put out, and explains in detail the advantages claimed for their power plant, as well as other features that are peculiar to these cars.

Battle Hill v. Cartersville.

The Cartersville boys promised them a good time and the Hill boys will surely give them a good game. CHARLES VITTUR, Mgr.

This time also is the best ever made by a 5-year-old stallion.

Cresceus held the former two-heat record for stallions, and Bob Douglas, who twice finished second to The Harvester, held the 5-year-old stallion record of 2:06¼.

Geers also drove The Abbe to victory in the Chamber of Commerce $5,000 stake, winning three straight heats, after being beaten at the wire by Evelyn W. in the first heat.

CORBETT PICKS MAN TO THRASH JOHNSON

Young Giant Named McLeod Is Corbett's Protege.

Bakersfield, Cal., August 2.—The identity of James J. Corbett's "unknown," whom tht former champion expects to win the championship from Jack Johnson for the white race, was revealed today in a message from Albany, Mo.

Miles McLeod, a young giant, 27 years old, and weighing 250 pounds, is Corbett's protege.

The message, which was declared to be from a strictly reliable source, was to a local newspaper man. It stated that McLeod had signed a contract with Corbett to enter the ring, and that he is now secretly receiving boxing instructions from the former champion.

McLeod comes from a family of gians, having two brothers his equal in size. He is a college man and an athlete.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

HEAVY REALIZING FOLLOWED THE REPORT

But After Sales of Cotton Had Been Absorbed the Market Became Steady.

New York, August 2.—The feature in the cotton market today was the government report for August condition, which proved to be about as expected, and which was followed by heavy realizing, under which prices eased off quite sharply. The crop outlook was considered too bullish, however, to encourage operations for short account and after liquidating sales had been absorbed the market became steadier on covering, renewed bull support and trade buying, with the close steady, net 2 points higher to 7 points lower.

The market opened firm at an advance of 7@14 points with December and later months making new high records on a bullish private condition report, the continued dry hot weather in the southwest and reports of a better spot demand. The opening was better than due on the cables, and during the early trading there was a reaction of 4@5 points from the best, under realizing, but the market found good support, and when the government report was issued, prices were within a point or two of the top. The condition of 75.5 per cent, against 80.7 last month and 71.9 last year, as reported by the government, was just about as had been expected and immediately upon its publication there was a rush of profit taking on which prices broke about 20 points from the high level of the morning and to a net loss of about 9@12 points. The offerings were very well absorbed on the decline, however, and a considerable part of the loss was recovered later in the afternoon, with more buyers encouraged by a theory that the condition in Texas had deteriorated still further since July 25, the date on which the government crop was compiled. Moreover, there was nothing in the official forecasts to indicate any break in the Texas drought and some local statisticians made the condition 75.5 per cent the basis for crop estimates of under 12,000,000 bales.

Receipts of cotton at the ports today 504 bales, against 3,680 last week and 1,090 last year. For the week 18,000, against 20,780 last week and 10,257 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 3, against 176 last year, and at Houston 216, against 128 last year.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points advance; middling uplands 15.30; do. gulf 15.55; sales none.

Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 6 to 10 points. Cables were favorable and private bureau reports on the condition of the growing crop were larger than expected, which induced considerable short covering. In the trading of the first half hour the more active months were steadily held 9 to 10 points over yesterday's closing, in spite of rather free offerings from longs, who were liquidating holdings over the bureau report on condition. Comparatively little attention was paid to the weather, although the map indicated that no relief had been given the drought districts in the western half of the cotton country.

The rise continued until the more active months were 15 points over yesterday's closing. At 11 o'clock the market was at the highest of the morning. The bureau figures on condition of 75.5 per cent proved disappointing to the trade, and they immediately caused a loss of 20 points on both December and January, the two months most traded in for some time after the report was read. Up to this morning 75.5 would have been called bullish, but bearish operators succeeded in educating traders up to unreasonable expectations. Conservative bulls said that the report fully met their expectations. The first sale of October after the figures were known was at a loss of 12 points. Following this there was a quick decline which amounted to 20 points in a few minutes. After about ten minutes of active and excited trading the market calmed down and had a steadier tone on buying for both accounts. At 12 o'clock there was little doing around the ring, and prices were 6 to 10 points up from the lowest of the morning.

In the afternoon session the market was featureless and trading was small volume. Prices were not well maintained, and at 2 o'clock were only 2 to 4 points up from the low of the day.

The close was steady at a net decline of 2 to 4 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, August 2.—The cotton goods market was firmer following the issuing of the government bureau report on cotton. Trading in print cloth yarn goods at slightly higher prices was reported. Yarns hold firm with business limited. The export trade is quiet, a sale of 500 bales of gray goods for Manila shipment being one feature. On men's wear trading is spotty and not generally satisfactory. The jobbers did a better trade for the day.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, August 2.—The cotton seed oil market was active and firm, with commission houses and refiners trading both ways in the new crop positions closing at 1@8 points advance with sales of 30,200 barrels. STOCKS WERE BUOYANT AFTER BUREAU REPORT

Bears Were Routed Late in the Day, and the Active List Closed at Gains.

New York, August 2.—The stock market today was strictly an affair of professional traders, and their views of the speculative outlook seemed to change from hour to hour, judging by the continental fluctuations in the course of prices. The movement of some special stocks gave warning that the bear party had been at work in the past few days. The perception of this fact, and the suspicions which it engendered, were as much influence on the day's market as any news bearing on the conditions affecting actual values. There is no one subject at present to which so much importance is attached as the year's agricultural harvests, and the market showed a real response to the more hopeful turn of the day's news in that respect. Early depression was transformed into a buoyant and active closing. The government report on cotton condition as of July 25 was the foremost influence in shaping judgment of the agricultural outlook, the condition figure showing a heavy deterioration during the month and a poor comparison with the average in a number of years, does not offer great inspiration to enthusiasm when considered absolutely.

The speculation considered it not from that standpoint, but relatively. In that light it was no worse than expected, and better than some of the preliminary estimates, notably that of the National Ginners' Association. The action of the cotton market itself, since large speculative realizing was called for even on a poor showing in the government report, was of doubtful value, as index of the immediate situation. The influence of the monthly report was supplemented by the language of the weekly bulletin of the weather bureau reporting "much needed warmth and sunshine," making it, "on the whole, probably the most favorable week of the season," in the eastern portion of the cotton belt, which is in the portion most seriously affected by the unfavorable showing of the government report. There were reports, also, of cloudy weather in Texas, where the trouble is with drouth rather than excessive moisture. Finally, the drouth-stricken portions of the corn belt were reported to have been visited by "abundant and soaking rains," and there was heavy selling of that commodity on the exchanges to bear out the reports.

The cheerful tenor of these advices strengthened the resistance which stocks had begun to show in the depression of the early part of the day. The depression centered on the Hawley group to the accompaniment of predictions that the dividend on Chesapeake and Ohio could not be maintained, and that the ambitious projects of combination centering around that property were becoming involved in embarrassments similar to those which overcame the Pearson syndicate. There appeared a demand for the stock, which was not felt yesterday during its sharp fall, and the bears found the supply small when they began to bid for it to cover their shorts. This put a new face on the matter. The strong rally in Chesapeake and Ohio, and a similar rebound in Sloss-Sheffield Steel, served as a warning that protective measures against bear raids were in force. A sharp reduction in the London visible supply of Copper, reports of improving demand for that metal and reiteration of assertions that a policy of curtailed output had been entered upon by the principal producers served to strengthen the copper industrials. New orders for steel products and specifications on contracts were said to satisfy the ideas of authorities in that trade. The over-extended bears in the market were put fairly to rout before the end of the day, and the active list showed gains all the way from 1 to 4 points.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,300,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WHEAT PRICES SLUMP ON ILLINOIS YIELD

Prices at Close Show Decline of One to One and Seven-Eighths Cents.

Chicago, August 2.—Surprising indications that the Illinois wheat crop, notwithstanding supposed heavy losses by Hessian fly, will be 45,000,000 bushels, as against 31,000,000 bushels a year ago, smashed the market today. The close was weak at nearly the lowest point of the session and showing a fall of ⅞@1c to 1⅞c as compared with 24 hours previous. There was a final loss of 1½@1⅝c in corn and ⅞@⅞c in oats. For provisions, the latest figures ranged from 22½c advance to 15c decline.

Information as to the Illinois wheat yield came through the State Grain Dealers' Association, and was regarded as sensational from a trade standpoint. Detailed figures from more than 500 points north of the Vandalia railway were given, showing an average crop of 20 bushels an acre on 2,139,000 acres. The result was the selling out of many holdings and notably that of a prominent local operator. Primary receipts today were of great bulk, the world's available supply showed a big increase and foreign markets were all depressed. Weakness of corn had also a decided bearish effect on wheat. Bulls took what comfort they could from assertions by cash grain men that the wheat movement from the interior had reached the maximum and that offerings were on the decrease. Local and eastern mills bought quite a little wheat, but the most of the day's arrivals went to the elevators and meant the selling of futures. September ranged from $1.00½ to $1.02¼, and closed 1⅝@1¾c to 1⅞c down at $1.00¾ to $1.00⅞.

General rains in Kansas and Nebraska made a weak market for corn. Crop reports were better, but there was much commission buying on the declines. A huge cash business was done, largely on resting orders. September sold from 62c to 63⅛c, closing easy at 62¼@62½c, a loss of 1⅛@1⅜c, compared with last night. The cash market was weak. No. 2 yellow closed at 64¼@64¾c.

Oats were flattened out by the large primary receipts and by the improved crop reports. The September option fluctuated between 36½ and 37½c, with the finish ⅝c off at 36⅝@36⅝c.

Traders in provisions gave a bullish interpretation to the official report on ribs and meats. Except for October pork, prices at the wind-up were generally higher as a result, the best gain being in September ribs, 22½c.

Good Fishing.

(From The Denver Post.)

K. M. Wharry was telling some friends about a proposed fishing trip to a lake in Colorado which he had in contemplation.

"Are there any trout out there?" asked one friend.

"Thousands of 'em," replied Mr. Wharry.

"Will they bite easily," asked another friend.

"Will they?" said Mr. Wharry. "Why, they're absolutely vicious. A man has to hide behind a tree to bait a hook."

(From The Washington Times.)

At a banquet in New York, Canon Henson, describing the old dress of English bishops, said:

"The bishop of Bath and Wells had been visiting Scarborough. On the way to the train he lost his reckoning and stopped a boy.

"'I say, my lad, how far is it to the station?' he asked.

"'About a mile straight ahead,' said the boy. Then, staring at the bishop's knee breeches and silk stockings, he added:

"'What's up? Somebody swipe your bike?'"

Bradstreet's Available Supplies

New York, August 2.—Special cable and telegraph communications received by Bradstreet show the following changes in available supplies as compared with the previous account:

Wheat, United States, east of Rockies, increased 3,255,000 bushels; Canada, decreased 655,000. Total, United States and Canada, increased 2,600,000. Afloat for and in Europe, increased 2,300,000. Total American and European supply, increased 4,900,000. Corn, United States, and Canada, decreased 162,000. Oats, United States and Canada, increased 442,000.

The leading increases and decreases reported this week follow:

Increases, Louisville 186,000; Nashville 73,000; San Antonio 50,000.

Weekly Weather Report.

Washington, August 2.—In its review of the weather for the week ending yesterday, the weather bureau in the National Weekly Weather Bulletin, issued today, says this of the conditions which existed in the cotton belt:

"Over the eastern portion of the cotton belt much needed warmth and sunshine prevailed, and, although generally dry, it was, on the whole, probably the most favorable week of the season. In the middle portion of the cotton belt conditions were generally very favorable, sunshine and warmth prevailed and showers were not too frequent.

"Over Texas and Oklahoma high temperatures, drying winds and lack of rainfall were very trying to vegetation of all kinds. Drought is becoming very severe in large portions of Oklahoma, and more moisture is now badly needed over most of Texas."

Argo, Jester & Co.

New York, August 2.—The feature of the market was the condition report, which, while it fell short of the expectation of some extremists, just about met the views of the trade generally. Since the date on which replies were sent in, there has been some loss in Texas, on account of dry weather, but this has been largely offset by better conditions in other portions of the belt, so that there would not be much variation in the figures if they were brought up to date. The report is quite bullish enough, as it stands, and will cause a sharp scaling down of earlier estimates of the crop, as no large crop has been so far raised after a July deterioration and the falling off this year has hardly been exceeded in any previous season. Traders disagree as to the probable effect of the report abroad, but unless the drought in Texas is broken by soaking rains, within the next few days, foreign consumers, who are already nervous, will become seriously alarmed and begin to buy in earnest. The heavy realizing of the past two days has been easily absorbed and many are waiting to buy on any further decline. Unless something decided happens to change sentiment, higher prices are a question of only a short time.

Young man, stand by your champion, Schley Howard. He's your candidate as well as the candidate of your fathers.

Ingenious, but ad.

Two small boys picked up some money on a Prospect avenue corner the other afternoon by an ingenius scheme. One of them would slip up behind a kindly looking old man whenever one came along and pin a small "For Sale" sign on his coat. Then the other boy would run ahead and tell the kindly looking pedestrian that some bad boy had played a trick on him and pinned a sign on his coat. When upon the old man, if he harbored a particle of gratitude in his make-up, would give the good little boy a nickle or dime for telling him. Then the boys would divide.—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

1910 IS PROVING PROSPEROUS YEAR

July Shows $226,621.82 Gain in Transfer.

Bank Clearings for the Month Offer an Increase of $9,412,117.85, While Building Permits Show Gain of $642,238. Big Increases for 7 Months.

Transfers in real estate for the month just past for Atlanta amount to $1,794,060.82, an increase over the same month of last year of $226,621.82. The transfers recorded for the seven months of this year amount to $16,028,555.27, an increase over the same period of 1909 of $3,652,420.16.

The bank clearings also show an increase. For July this year they amount to $36,260,868.20, an increase over July of 1909 of $9,412,117.85.

During the month of July the building permits issued amount to $839,112, and those for July last year amounted to $346,874, an increase of $642,238.

Building permits issued during the first seven months of this year amount to $3,382,985, an increase over the first seven months of 1909 of $1,693,420.

These gains clearly show that the city is just as rapidly advancing when it comes to real estate as she is advertised. The fact that $16,000,000 in transfers is shown in the q. e. d. and no argument of a stronger nature could be made as to the Gate City's real estate values.

Only $15 Washington and Return Via Seaboard.

THEATERS

At the Lyric.

"Salomy Jane" was given twice yesterday at the Lyric theater by the Emma Bunting Stock Company, and will be presented throughout the present week. This is one of the most pretentious offerings of the season, and, now that all the rough edges observable the first night are worn off, a most excellent performance of the play is being given. In the leading role, Miss Bunting is more than acceptable, and is winning the hearts of all those who have so far witnessed her portrayal of "Salomy Jane." Excellent characterizations are also given by Mr. Whitaker, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Clairmont and Mr. Henry. The three Atlanta children are superb in their parts, and make all the assurance and repose of old-timers.

A RELIEF FROM CATARRH.

Eclipse Catarrh Cure Has a Long Record of Many Cures of This Stubborn Disease.

More than half the people of this country suffer with Catarrh, and because it does not wholly incapacitate them they do not give it any attention. This is a serious mistake, as in most cases it becomes chronic and difficult to control, and finally undermines the constitution.

If you have the slightest bit of Catarrh you should immediately treat it with Eclipse Catarrh Cure. This remedy will give immediate relief and often cures when every other remedy fails.

Great Thought Runs to Waste.

(From The Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

There were two common house flies at large in the Tinkletons' living room when the head of the household—his courtesy title—looked above his newspaper at the partner of his joys. The lady did not meet his glance. Her hand grasped a rolled up copy of Woman's Work, and her keen gaze was fixed on an incautious fly.

"I'd like to know what Roosevelt's little game is," said Mr. Tinkleton in his best oracular manner. "Perhaps he thinks he can—"

Swat! The folded weekly fell dangerously near the daring fly.

Mr. Tinkleton drew an extra breath.

"Of course, this isn't England," he resumed. They listened courteously over there when he told them to—"

Swat! Swat!

"When he told them they should—"

Swat! Swat!

"But over there he can't expect to—"

Swat! Swat!

Mr. Tinkleton's face grew purple.

"If you think I'm going to sit here and—"

Swat! Swat!

"You are very much—"

Swat!!

Mrs. Tinkleton looked up, bloodthirsty and triumphant.

"Smashed 'em both," she announced. "And now what was it you were saying?"

But Mr. Tinkleton had lost all zest in the subject.

No More Trust.

"I have been reading about those Italian earthquakes before going to bed," said the old Jersey farmer, "and I s'pose I got a little nervous. Some sound outdoors woke me up after midnight, and I sat up and said to the old woman:

"'Hazner, did you hear that?'

"'I did,' said she.

"'It's an earthquake shock, I guess.'

"'I guess so, too, and what shall we do about it?'

"'Kiver up our heads and trust in Providence.'

"We kivered and we trusted," continued the old man with a sad smile, "and when I got out in the morning I found the barn door busted open and my $200 horse gone. I'm a trustin' sort o' man, but I've bought a shotgun and shall do a little shootin' before I fall back on Providence agin."

The Mazarin Bible.

(Frederick Sherman, in Scribner's Magazine.)
How brave these pages are where, row on row,
The type in lines unbroken moves today,
An army that has won the world awa
An army that has won the world away
The host of God, its endless victories show
How powerless are the hands of men to stay
The march of Truth, advancing, not to slay
But to save them who their peril do not know.
Here where they first were marshalled into line
And started forth beneath the flag Divine
To fight the bloodless battles of the Lord
They triumph still, as in that far off past,
A mighty army that will yet outlast
Long centuries the cannon and the sword.

FRIENDS TO AID ACCUSED CRIPPEN

Leading English Lawyer to Defend Doctor.

His Friends Do Not Believe Dr. Crippen Murdered His Wife — Scotland Yard Has Little Evidence and Is Trying to Induce Girl to Betray Him.

Quebec, August 2.—Dr. Hawley H. Crippen has friends in London who believe he did not slay his wife, Belle Elmore, and they are willing to pay for a lawyer to defend him when he is tried there for murder. He received proof of this tonight when the jailer handed him the following cablegram from a London solicitor:

Dr. H. H. Crippen, care of Inspector Dew, Quebec.—Your friends desire me to defend you, and will pay all necessary expenses. Will undertake your defense, but you must promise to keep absolute silence and answer no questions and don't resist extradition.

"Reply confirming, as good deal must be done at once.

"ARTHUR NEWTON, Solicitor, "London."

First Gleam of Hope.

This unexpected message brought to the accused dentist in his lonely cell the first gleam of hope since his arrest Sunday on the steamer Montrose with his companion in flight, Ethel Clare Leneve. And by coincidence, the bearer of those good tidings was Inspector Dew, of Scotland Yard, who on Sunday morning swiftly crushed the fugitive's hopes of escape.

Whether Crippen has accepted the proffered assistance of these unknown friends or has refused it in the same colorless manner with which he has met all advances, could not be learned tonight.

Inspector Dew and Chief McCarthy, of the Quebec police, had nothing to say after their visit to him. Thus the question arises whether the offer today may not explain the seeming unconcerned attitude of Dr. Crippen since his arrest. Did he have assurances to this effect before he broke his "gentleman's agreement" with Inspector Dew in London and fled?

Identity of Friends Unknown.

The identity of the frends who volunteered their funds in his behalf could not be ascertained here tonight, and nothing is known about the solicitor who signed the cablegram.

Judging from his behavior since he was arrested the pale little prisoner on Quebec Heights did not need the warning to remain silent. A single monosyllable negative to his jailer's inquiry whether he wished to give out any public statement was the only message that came from him today for the outside world. Reading in his cell or silently pacing the corridor, where he is allowed to exercise for part of the day, Crippen shows a desire for little except to be let alone. Today he wanted something to read and when asked his choice he said for one thing he would like a Bible. He received the book with other literature.

The Attitude of the Girl.

The attitude of Miss Leneve is unlike the man's. The jail matron and the women of the household of Chief McCarthy, where she spent part of the day yesterday, say she is not averse to conversation, but she declines to say anything regarding the crime in which she is charged jointly with Crippen or of their wanderings together through Europe.

Reports that she has told the police enough to convince them of her innocence are denied by the authorities. Nevertheless many of those who have come in contact with the girl do not hesitate to say they believe she knew nothing of the horrible end of Belle Elmore when she fled with Dr. Crippen.

As the case now stands, the only evidence in the hands of the police that may be construed as hostile to Crippen is the discovery of the diamond rings and the brooch the police took from him on the steamer. These, they say, belonged to his wife.

"Crippen is no fool," said Inspector Dew, and no one questioned his opinion. It is generally believed that the police are resting their hopes on Miss Leneve. If she does not possess the key to the mystery, they think that she can at least aid them materially in a reconstruction of the circumstances leading up to the disappearance of Belle Elmore. It is known that Mrs. Crippen was jealous of her husband's typist, and the police have no doubt that Miss Leneve was aware of it.

They will not use any "third degree" methods in interviewing Miss Leneve, but more subtle influences already are at work. The girl prisoner is being treated with the greatest consideration.

Inspector Dew has repeatedly said he believed the girl was innocent of any knowledge of wrongdoing. She has been visited by other women who have treated her most kindly.

Girl Urged to Tell All.

At the same time Miss Leneve is being bombarded with cablegrams from members of her family in London urging her to tell all she knows. The pressure of friendliness is being exerted upon her while there is no prospects that she will come in contact with Dr. Crippen, or even see him for a long time.

The purpose in this is obvious, when it is considered so far as is generally known, Scotland Yard has been unable to identify the dismembered body found in the cellar of the Crippen home in London. The police case is believed not to be complete.

To casual observers it appears that a very pretty little three-cornered game is being played between the police, Crippen and Miss Leneve. Crippen seems to be playing a lone hand, but whether the police will receive assistance from Miss Leneve is a question sufficiently in doubt to make a next move on her part a matter of chief interest.

Girl Looking Better.

The color is beginning to return to Miss Leneve's cheeks, and this morning the matron at the jail hospital said she looked a trifle less forlorn than when she was taken there yesterday afternoon from the house of Chief of Detectives McCarthy. Miss Leneve, who left the Montrose in garments loaned to her by the ship's stewardess, was today supplied with a neat white dress.

Even the unemotional Dew, the typical English detective, has been affected by Miss Leneve's plight. "I am sorry for her," he said today. "I do not believe she knew anything about it."

Crippen Refuses to Talk.

The police have denied all requests to see and speak with the prisoner and throw up their hands in amazement at the very idea of a newspaper interview. Today, however, Judge Anger authorized Prison Governor Joseph Morin to visit Crippen in his cell and give him a verbal message, asking if he would make a public statement. The magistrate imposed the terms that anything Crippen might say must be put by him in writing and submitted to the court before it was given out.

Morin found the prisoner in the same silent and morose state that he has preserved since his imprisonment. When told that he had a chance to send some word to the outside world, Crippen displayed not the slightest interest.

"Is there anything you wish to say?" persisted the jailer.

The accused man was sitting on the edge of his bunk, and without even looking up, answered "No."

Good Lawyer to Defend Crippen.

London, August 2.—Arthur Newton, the London solicitor, who has cabled Dr. Crippen his willingness to undertake Crippen's defense, is a successful criminal advocate. He has been connected with many cases of a sensational character.

Fifteen persons, for the most part women, who will be called as witnesses at the trial of Dr. Crippen, appeared before the Bow Street magistrate at a private hearing today for the purpose of making depositions to facilitate the proceedings in Canada.

Scotland Yard officials said today that the warrants of arrest charge both Dr. Crippen and Ethel Leneve with murder. They must, therefore, be tried together, and will return to London on the same steamer. The question of altering the charge of murder against the Leneve, woman to one of lesser degree has not yet been discussed.

CLAIMS FILED AGAINST ROADS

Shippers of the South Are Seeking Reparation.

Claims Grow Out of the Complaint of the Morgan Grain Company of Atlanta Against the Atlantic Coast Line and Other Southern Lines.

Washington, August 2.—Hundreds of claims for reparation are being filed with the interstate commerce commission directed against various railroad lines in what is known as the southeastern territory—that part of the country south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi. The demands for reparation aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars. They are filed practically exclusively by shippers in the southeastern territory.

On August 1, 1908, the railroads in that territory put into effect tariffs advancing the rates on freight classes B, C, D and F on fresh meats in carloads, and on grain, grain products, hay and packing house products from Ohio and Mississippi river crossings and Nashville, Tenn., to points in the southeastern territory. The advances on class freight, fresh meats and packing house, averaged about 3 cents a hundred pounds and on grain, grain products and hay 2 cents a hundred pounds.

Formal complaint was instituted against the railroads on account of the advances, but the commission has not yet decided the case, the title of which is the A. P. Morgan Grain Company, of Atlanta, Ga., v. the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company and others. The complainants aver that they are unable to absorb the entire advance through their sale price of the various commodities and that they are, therefore, subject to a heavy loss in the handling of the products.

In anticipation of a decision favorable to them in the Morgan case, the claimants are filing demands for reparation for the alleged excess charges they have paid in freight during the last two years. It amounts simply to a repetition of the yellow pine cases, in which the southern railroads were forced to refund to shippers approximately $2,000,000 in freight charges.

Whatever the decision of the commission may be, it is likely that the case will be carried to the United States supreme court for final determination.

How Atlanta Grows

During the year 1908 the Georgia Railway and Electric Company handled 630,000 more passengers than in 1907. At the same time the company had 481 fewer accidents.

It is a source of satisfaction to live in a city where public utilities grow not only in size, but in efficiency.

But during 1909 the company hauled one million more passengers than in 1908. These figures show in a startling way how Atlanta is growing. Atlanta is a good place to own real estate.

Greek Swindlers Caught.

(Paris Correspondent, The London Telegraph.)

Two Greek gentlemen approached a French professor of literature and informed him that they had a fortune of £360,000 to claim. Would he help them and share the profits? He jumped at the idea, and all three set out for Egypt. During the journey, at Naples, one of the Greeks found that he was being tracked by men who meant to murder him, and had to be bought off. The professor, on being told, at once paid £400 to the would-be assassins, and all three took ship again.

At Messina another adventure happened. The same Greek was again threatened, this time by a lawyer, who pointed a revolver at him, demanding also £400. The professor advanced the money at once on his ultimate share of the £360,000.

All seemed smooth now and the three were just about to embark once more when the same Greek reported another mishap. His consul wanted him and threatened to detain him if £1,040 were not paid at once. The professor, as usual, paid. Then he found that he had not money left, having brought only £2,000 in cash with him for traveling expenses, which had proved heavy.

He returned to Paris to get more money, but when he arrived there it all at once dawned upon him that he had been swindled. He acted upon this amazingly happy thought and the two Greeks, one of them by default, have just been sentenced in Paris to three and five years' imprisonment, respectively, and to pay the candid professor back his £1,840, which, however, it is to be feared he will not see again.

St. Pierre vessels—that is, those fitting out in the colony—no matter in what business engaged, are exempt under the new law from harbor dues. Formerly these vessels had to pay charges similar to those paid by foreigners. French shipping proper and vessels registered in other French colonies are required to pay dues as under the old regulations.

How Diaz Is Able to Control People of Mexico.

Further evidence that the republican form of government in Mexico is a hollow mockery is furnished by a writer in the August American Magazine, who seems well qualified to speak authoritatively on the subject. The author is Mrs. Dorothy Johns, who for twelve years has been a resident of the City of Mexico, pursuing the profession of a trained nurse. She gives the following illuminating report of a conversation between herself and a prominent Mexican official who was a warm friend:

"'And now no man is safe, even in the bosom of his own family,' he was saying. 'Wives are watching husbands, fathers spying upon sons. They are tricked into believing that they may thereby save their beloved ones from the consequences of a suspected sympathy or affiliation with the liberal party. When the desired information has been obtained, the suspicion verified, it is no uncommon thing for both spy and spied upon to disappear from the face of the earth. Those they fear to kill they buy. You remember A——? How enthusiastic were his songs of liberty? They made him a diplomat. He has just returned from Paris, looking a little like the poor poet he used to be. He appears well fed, with rounded stomach, and he is well groomed and prosperous. He sings no more liberty.'

"'The people think they are the government,' he continued, smiling. 'That is the secret of their subjection. They believe in their government; they believe they can make changes in it if they want to, for the constitution tells them they can. They believe in the constitution they swear by it and they worship Porfirio. To this insight is due the condition which enables the government to control the people and the government does well to fight to the death anything which threatens to change that condition. It is the only way our people can be controlled.'

"I could not believe that, and because I would not believe it I doubted the truth of the information he had given me, as he said, that I might be forewarned against circumstances which might arise. I resolved not to put too much faith in what he had said, but to find out for myself. In the course of my investigations I learned that he himself was one of the many eyes of the Little Eagle, and knew whereof he spoke. I am convinced that he told only the truth, and less than the whole truth, regarding conditions and political methods in Mexico."
